Soviet Protest Fails, UNO to Meet Monday

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—President Truman declared flatly today Monday's scheduled meeting of the United Nations Security Council will not be postponed.

Mr. Truman told his news conference the United States delegation will press for action on the Iranian case.

The Soviets have asked for a 16-day delay on the ground they need time to prepare their answer.

Reminded of the Russian request for a postponement, the President was asked what will happen Monday if the Soviets insist on their plea.

The President told his questioner he had better attend the meeting and find out.

Mr. Truman again announced he was not seeking another meeting of the "Big Three" to deal with differences between Russia and other members of the United Nations.

The United Nations Organization, he said, is supposed to take over things that formerly were discussed by the Big Three.

A three-power conference was suggested in the Senate yesterday by Sen. Pepper (D. of Florida).

Mr. Truman told newsmen he would be glad to see any or all members of the UNO at any time. He simply is not asking for a Big Three meeting.

The President said Secretary Byrnes will carry to Monday's session in New York his own (Mr. Truman's) address of welcome.

Shortly after Mr. Truman talked Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko said that any hasty action by the United Nations Security Council on the Iranian dispute would merely complicate it.

Gromyko talked with reporters at the State Department after a hurriedly-arranged 20-minute conference with Sec. Byrnes.

The Soviet ambassador, who returned unexpectedly last night from New York, declined to tell what he said to Byrnes, but reiterated Russia believes the Iranian case unquestionably should be delayed because negotiations are now under way between Iran and Russia.

Leaving some doubt on whether he personally would attend the United Nations council meeting, Gromyko said no decision has been made about Russia's permanent representative on the peace agency.

Ike Asks Congress Extend Draft Law

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower asked Congress today to extend the draft law indefinitely and to limit service liability of inductees to 18 months.

If that is done, the chief of staff told the House military committee, the Army can release all fathers by the end of August or early in September, regardless of how long they have been in service.

If it is not done, he warned, the Army may fall short by 185,000 men of its estimated needed strength of 1,070,000 on July 1, 1947.

Both Eisenhower and War Secretary Patterson argued against proposals for a shorter extension of the Selective Service act, which expires May 15 of this year.

Rail Men Aid Crippled Girl Who Waved Greetings

COVINGTON, Tenn., March 21 (AP)—Nearly a year ago a railroad conductor stopped his freight train in front of a ramshackle farm house to get acquainted with a little girl who had been waving to the trains from her rocking chair on the porch.

He found she was crippled from a spinal anesthetic given during an operation. Word was passed along the Illinois Central line. Soon 14-year-old Minnie Rose Webb was the line's mascot.

Passing trains would slow down while conductors, engineers and brakemen threw dolls, candy, toys and magazines to the brown-haired little girl.

One day last September a freight halted. The conductor emerged from the caboose with a wheel chair which men on the line had bought for Minnie Rose.

Tonight the 70-mile-an-hour Chickasaw Limited will stop at the caddy crossing. But instead of dropping gifts, it will pick up Minnie Rose to take her to a Shrine hospital in St. Louis.

The railroad men got together, bought her a drawing room and arranged with the trainmaster to have the limited stopped at the little rural community. They've even gone so far as to have her Pullman car halted right in front of her front porch.

Tomorrow morning Minnie will be in the Shrine hospital in St. Louis, where all that medical science can offer will be hers.

Fresh Upstairs Mark Trial of Paris Bluebeard

By LOWELL BENNETT

PARIS, March 21 (INS)—Screaming verbal battles with up to six people shouting at the same time today highlighted the fourth day of Dr. Marcel Petiot's fight to justify his ghastly murder mill.

The defendant, charged with 26 murders, tangled heatedly and frequently with the judge and prosecutor.

Petiot covered a variety of subjects such as "the next war," "pretty little children," "betrayal of Judaism," "wartime clothing shortage" and "ugly lawyers."

Although the judge warned he would clear the court, furious debates broke out with the judge, three or four prosecutors and Petiot haranguing each other simultaneously.

The court rebuked the gaunt defendant for saying that the court's physicians should be hanged for "mistakes" they made in identifying corpses. Said the judge:

"Be quiet or it will go badly for you."

Said the defendant: "It will go badly, but not for me. What's more, I'm not even talking to you. I am addressing the jury."

The loudest uproar broke out when the subject of Yvon Dreyfus, an alleged victim, was brought up. The defense introduced a German dossier and an affidavit from Mrs. Dreyfus claiming her husband was a Gestapo informer.

Defense counsel shouted: "Although Dreyfus was a Jew himself, he paid the Nazis one million francs to free him from jail and he hired himself to them as an informer."

Petiot shouted: "The Jew Dreyfus was a four-time traitor—he betrayed his race, his religion, his country and his friends. He betrayed underground groups which helped refugee Jews to escape."

Britain Maps National Health Plan

LONDON, March 21 (INS)—Details of the labor government's national health plan providing free medical care through state control of British hospitals and physicians was published in a government white paper today.

It was hoped the plan would be in operation by the beginning of 1948.

The $608,000,000 annual cost to the government anticipated for the early years would be reduced to an annual net cost of $380,000,000 through public payments into a national insurance fund. Weekly payments were set at 20 cents for men and 16 cents for women.

The government announced that in order to place medical and surgical skill at the disposal of the people, both hospitals and physicians would be subject to the authority of the ministry of health and local health officials.

Medical care and services would be free to all, except for fees to be charged in a few special cases.

Physicians would receive upward of $265,000,000 as compensation under the bill which prohibits, among other things, the buying and selling of private practices. Doctors may continue to treat former patients within the framework of the plan.

The plan anticipates nationalization of virtually every branch of medicine, surgery, dentistry and ophthalmology.

THE ROMAN TWINS, GEORGE AND MICHAEL, BEFORE AND AFTER THE HAIRCUT

CHICAGO, March 21 (AP)—A set of 4-year-old Chicago twins today changed their appearance, merely by having their curls clipped and donning male attire.

George and Michael Roman had such long, curly hair their mother, Mrs. Anthony Roman, dressed them as girls. They made quite a hit with their feminine garb.

But boys must be boys, they went to a barber shop for a trimming. Both made quite a scene there, with barber Aubrey Kajutis sighing, "I thought women were the contrary sex. But I'd sooner trim a troupe of show girls."

However, the lads emerged looking like boys, particularly when they donned overalls and jerseys.

SOUTH WINDHAM, Me., March 21—Fifteen men broke out of the men's reformatory here today and hours later five of them were trapped 40 miles away at York, where a Maine state trooper, was wounded in a hunt that engaged police of three states.

The mass escape, accomplished by sawing iron bars and sliding 60 feet down a rope from a third-floor dormitory, alerted state and local police throughout southern Maine and officers at all border communities in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

It was believed several of the fugitives had crossed borders of the latter states in automobiles reported stolen in several places soon after the break.

First to spot any of the fugitives was "State Trooper Royal Spofford of the Wells State Police barracks, who attempted to stop a beach wagon at York. The machine had been stolen at Westbrook, a few miles from the reformatory.

One of the men opened fire on Spofford, wounding him in the neck, as the driver sped off. Police converged on that area within minutes and three of the prisoners were recaptured.

Two others leaped from the beach wagon and ran into a swampy section at nearby Seabury. They were believed surrounded by police.

Spofford was taken to York Hospital by York Police Chief William Sullivan. He said the trooper's condition was not critical.

Officials declined to identify the trio captured. They were taken to York police headquarters, as police, firemen and volunteers joined the hunt in the York-Seabury area.

A number of the escapees are known to be armed: Three automobiles were stolen at Westbrook soon after the break and guns and food were taken by the gang in a ransacking of camps at Blackstrap, 12 miles from South Windham.

Blocks were thrown up at the New Hampshire and Massachusetts lines. The New Hampshire state line is only 35 miles from the reformatory and the Bay State line is only 25 miles from the spot where the trooper was Discovery of the break did not come until the regular morning check, which showed 15 men missing. Two other inmates had escaped yesterday.

Only one Bay Stater was among the escapees. He is Richard W. Madden, 18, of Fall River, who was serving a sentence for larceny of an automobile.

Burke quoted Lincoln as saying: "I warned her I would hit her if she didn't stop crying. When she continued, I reached into the back seat, picked up a hammer and began to beat her."

Lincoln said the girl scrambled from the car and stumbled down the road. Burke quoted Lincoln as saying he then "shot her five or six times" with a .22 caliber rifle.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, farmers near Joliet, was given a fighting chance to live at the Silver Cross Hospital in Joliet. Her 49-year-old father gave her blood for a transfusion.

Lincoln, a salesman for his father's firm, was permitted to talk by telephone with his wife, Mrs. Laura Russell Lincoln, expectant mother, who lives in River Forest, Ill.

Race Slush Fund Probe Rejected

An adverse Rules Committee report on the order of Rep. Cornelius Desmond, Lowell, for an investigation of legislators and legislation with reference to racing measures since 1940, was upheld in the House today by a vote of 97 to 22.

Rep. Harland Burke of the Rules Committee said it had been rejected because it would set up a board of five representatives to investigate the rest on "general" charges, but indicated the action might have been different had Desmond been specific in his assertions.

Undaunted, Desmond obtained recognition and took the floor to reiterate his declaration that $100,000 of racing money had been used to influence members of the 1942 Legislature.

200 Hub Pupils Strike For Longer Lunch Hour

More than 200 upper grade pupils in the Michelangelo School, Charter st., North End, went on strike at noon today, demanding either a longer lunch hour or a school cafeteria, but Principal Francis O. Wood later prevailed on a grievance committee to urge them to return.

"Please forget all about it," was all that a spokesman for the grievance committee of three boys and three girls would say.

School Supt. Arthur L. Gould declared neither he nor the school committee would countenance any continuance of the strike and that the same penalties threatened during the Hyde Park High School strike a few months ago would apply.

He said if children under 16 failed to return to school tomorrow their parents would be held liable and children 16 and over who did not return would be expelled. Truant officers were instructed to visit all parents and explain the situation to them, Gould said.

The children, seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils, gathered in North End park after leaving the school for their lunch period at 11:35 a. m. and decided they would strike instead of returning to classes.

They complained their half-hour lunch period was too short for many of them to reach home, eat and return and that with no cafeteria in the building they were not allowed to bring their lunches. After deciding to demand a longer lunch period and installation of a cafeteria, they marched in a body to the school, their ranks being swelled by younger children from other schools and even grownups.

The street in front of the school soon became a milling, howling mass of children and growlings and police, summoned to the scene, advised the children to select a grievance committee and confer with the principal.

After conferring with Wood for almost an hour, the six children left and began to urge their fellow pupils to give up the strike and return.

Few of the children were willing to go back for the last class and there was a possibility they would not return tomorrow despite the optimism expressed by the principal.

Some of them claimed they had been abused and insulted by teachers because of their nationality and wanted that grievance adjusted.

Wood explained later that with no cafeteria in the school there had been an understanding for some time that children unable to get home and back in the half-hour allowed for lunch would be allowed to bring their lunches to school if they brought a letter from their parents.

He said this year no such letters had been brought to the school so that it was assumed that none of the children had such trouble.

Kelly Is Blasted As Demagogue

Former Lt. Gov. Kelly was characterized as "a two-bit demagogue" by Rep. Robert F. Murphy of Malden today when the latter got a chance to address the legislative committee on military affairs on the veterans' bonus issue.

CALL COST $250 — Marine Cpl. William F. McAllister of Bangor, stopped at South Station to call a friend. He left his wallet in phone booth with contents of $250 in cash and $300 in checks. Today he got the wallet back. Someone had removed the cash, left checks.

Murphy attacked Kelly for his conduct at the unruly hearing at Faneuil Hall and told the committee, which is considering 40 bonus bills, they "should hang their heads in shame" if they approved Kelly's $1000 lottery-financed plan.

"I've come to the conclusion," Murphy said, "that something should be done about demagogic fakery, the breast-beating, tub-thumping fakery exhibited by one individual at the hearing. I mean former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly."

"Kelly was given every consideration and courtesy by the committee to speak—even from the platform—while members of the General Court had to beg to be heard. I should like to be heard now. I hope the committee has learned two things: 1, not to leave the State House while conducting public business and 2, not to allow Kelly to act in an official capacity to hire Faneuil Hall for a legislative committee."

Rep. Frederick Pierce of Greenfield endorsed Murphy's views "100 per cent."

When Rep. George E. Rawson explained that the committee went to Faneuil Hall because the throng of veterans was so large, Murphy continued:

"I'm not criticising the committee but you must not be stampeded by this rabble-rouser. Don't report the bill favorably just because of the raucous utterances of this two-bit demagogue."

Later, Sen. Richard I. Furbush of Waltham recommended establishment of a $250,000,000 fund, the disposition of which would be determined by Bay State veterans.

The money would be raised from half of the present four-cent tax on a package of cigarettes, and would be continued for 25 years. Under Furbush's proposal, a veterans' advisory council of the State commissioner of veterans' services and six veterans would be set up to administer the fund. He said the fund could provide a bonus, loans or whatever the veterans desired.

Price Strike Fails; Cod Floods Market

After vainly trying to buck the old law of supply and demand, angry Atlantic fishermen today took a two-cent cut on more than 1,000,000 pounds of cod—but only after first tying up the Boston, Gloucester and New Bedford fish exchanges for five hours. Not a pound of any kind of fish was sold during that time.

But the break in the flooded market finally came, so tomorrow those who like codfish should get the first relief they have had from high prices since last summer.

The fishermen's self-imposed embargo came when five vessels arrived in Boston with well over 600,000 pounds of cod in addition to a half-million pounds of other varieties.

Trouble started yesterday when Capt. Michael Hayes of the dragger Charlotte M. put in here with 121,000 pounds of fish, all but 15,000 pounds of it cod. The winter ceiling price under OPA has been 8½ cents a pound, but captain and crew were offered but 6½ cents—the summer prices scheduled to go into effect April 1.

Hayes would not sell and was joined here today by the captains and crews of four new arrivals, the draggers Texas, Ohio, Vandal and Theresa.

Tied up simultaneously was 265,000 pounds of cod landed at Gloucester and another 268,000 pounds brought in at New Bedford.

The offering price dropped to 5 cents a pound at the Boston Fish Exchange this morning. Fishermen held a series of meetings during the morning and finally agreed to accept the 6½ cents—the price that yesterday had been refused.

Agreement with dealers was reached at once and within a few minutes the 1,000,000 pounds of large cod was snapped up at the three big Bay State fishing ports.

But finally Hayes gave in. It was too late. He eventually accepted 5-cents for 90,000 pounds. A new hitch developed when the purchaser went for delivery. The crew and the engineer refused to let a pound off the vessel. Capt. Hayes had to call the deal off and the crew now is faced with a probable price of 4-cents tomorrow or dumping the catch.

Authorities pointed out that good weather had brought big catches of cod during the last two weeks, despite a tie-up of 33 big trawlers on strike.

Canadian fish also has been reaching the Boston market in such quantities that fishermen have been seeking a federal embargo to keep prices up here.

Stimson Reveals Talk of Striking First at Japan

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)

—Former War Secretary Henry L. Stimson has disclosed that President Roosevelt's "war cabinet" discussed and rejected nine days before Pearl Harbor an American attack on Japanese forces without further warning.

Stimson recounted this in a statement sent to the Senate-House committee investigating Japan's surprise blow on Dec. 7, 1941. The committee made it public today.

Stimson related that on the morning of Friday, Nov. 28, 1941, he received information of Japanese movements along the Asiatic coast. They were of such a formidable character that he went to the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt was still absent but received his Secretary of War and they discussed the matter.

"He suggested that there were three alternatives, as my notes show: first, to do nothing; second, to make something in the nature of an ultimatum, stating a point beyond which we would fight; or, third, to fight at once.

"I said that I felt that to do nothing was out of the question and the President agreed with me.

"As to the other two alternatives, the desirable thing to do from the point of view of our own tactics and safety was to take the initiative and attack without further warning.

"I was inclined to feel that the warning given in August by the President against further moves by the Japanese toward Thailand justified an attack without further warning, particularly as their new movement southward indicated that they were about to violate that warning.

"On the other hand, I realized that the situation could be made more clean cut from the point of view of public opinion if a further warning were given."

At noon that same Friday, Stimson said, the so-called "war cabinet" met. In addition to Stimson its members were State Secretary Hull, Navy Secretary Knox, Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff.

It was learned later that the Japanese expedition was landing in Indo-China rather than going on into the Gulf of Siam, Stimson explained.

"This appeared to give us a little respite, since it indicated that perhaps they were not going to invade Thailand at once," he said.

"When the news first came that Japan had attacked us, my first feeling was of relief that the decision was over and that a crisis had come in a way which would unite all our people."

Vet Suing for Chattels Tells Judge Reconciliation Is Out

His wife's parents opposed his courtship of her so strenuously that the day of their wedding he simply drove to her home and tooted his horn until his wife told him to stop. Theodore J. Salvati, 27-year-old war veteran, of Edwards st., Quincy, testified in superior court today.

When she did emerge for the nuptials she was crying, he added. Salvati, from whom his wife, Edna, 26, of Liberty st., Quincy, obtained a legal separation after less than four months of marriage, is now battling her in court over possession of their furniture and a $560 bank account. She has both, she admitted at yesterday's session.

Judge Abraham E. Pinanski sounded out the veteran on a kiss-and-make-up possibility. "Did you love her?" he asked. "Yes," said Salvati.

"Still?" inquired the jurist. "No," answered Salvati, "I have gone through too much."

"Would a judge be foolish to try to effect a reconciliation?"

"Yes," was the emphatic answer.

Previously Mrs. Salvati had given testimony that her parents had not opposed the marriage. Today her husband's counsel introduced a letter she allegedly wrote Salvati during their courtship. It said:

"I'm sick in bed, crying so much I can't hold my pen. When I left you Saturday I went home and my father didn't give me a chance to talk to him. He gave me such a beating I fainted. I still love you no matter what the family talks about."

The case is continuing.

Agency to Salvage Marriages Urged

In receipts of more than a score of letters from men and women begging him to save their foundering marriages before they reach the divorce action stage, Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., of Suffolk Probate Court today recommended establishment of an agency to salvage marital unions headed for the rocks.

The letters, from widely separated parts of the State, poured in on the probate court jurist after he made public an appeal to him by a Roxbury woman who begged his aid in her marriage crisis.

"These letters," Judge Wilson commented today, "clearly indicate the need of an agency to adjust domestic quarrels and estrangements before they reach the court. Probate courts are anxious to save marriages but under the present press of business cannot do it unassisted."

"There should be a conference of various interested agencies, with a view toward designing a plan for conciliation and adjustment of couples needing such help."

He said he understood such a move had been launched in Chicago recently through collaboration of religious, social, medical and legal leaders.

As an example of the pleas coming to him, he made public a letter from a North Quincy man whose name was withheld. The husband wrote:

"I, too, am in desperate need of your assistance. Regardless of the merits of the case, I believe I could stand a little consideration. My wife left me a month ago and has since filed suit for divorce. We have two children, aged 2 and 4. It is for them and myself that I voice this appeal to you."

"I was discharged from the Navy about two months ago. Since that time my wife and I have had a few misunderstandings, the last of which ended in a violent quarrel. I am living with my in-laws, so naturally I had reverberations heard around the world."

"I honestly love my wife and desire a reconciliation if at all possible. Being a Roman Catholic I cannot condone divorce, so you see it is quite complicated. I have every confidence in your ability and wish that you could effect a reconciliation, or at least bring us to gether for a heart-to-heart talk on the responsibilities of married life and of the children."

"I am at your service day or evening."

KEENE, N. H., March 21.—Charles Langis, 28-year-old Navy veteran, formerly of Lynn, Mass., broke down here today following arraignment for the shotgun slaying of his wife, Phyllis, 24.

He pleaded with Police Chief Joseph L. Regan for permission to attend his wife's funeral at the Unitarian Church here Saturday afternoon.

It appeared the request could not be granted because county officials have a petition in Superior Court seeking Langis' commitment to the state hospital for insane at Concord for observation. If the petition is granted, Langis may be removed to Concord tomorrow.

Langis has been unable to eat since he was taken into custody shortly after the shooting yesterday morning.

Nomination Papers Taken for Sen. Walsh

Nomination papers "in the interests of Sen. David I. Walsh" were obtained today at the office of the Secretary of State by Michael Sullivan of Salem.

Otis A. Hood, spokesman for the Massachusetts Communist Party, obtained a set of independent papers for the seat in Congress now held by Mayor James M. Curley of Boston.

'Deal' Refusal Behind Ouster, MacDonald Says

Public Works Commission Chairman Herman A. MacDonald charged today his refusal to make a deal with Gov. Tobin over the chairmanship of the commission had resulted in the institution of proceedings to oust him on grounds of inefficiency and "for the good of the service." "I'm glad the guerrilla warfare is finally over," MacDonald said today after the Governor's announcement that an open hearing on the charges would be held at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday morning in the executive offices.

"He has several times promised to reappoint me to the commission if I would step down as chairman," MacDonald continued. "I said 'no' each time. 'I certainly will be in the proper place and at the proper time in order to fight these changes.'"

"I have no doubt of the outcome if the executive council listens to the evidence."

MacDonald was under the impression the Governor and council would hear the evidence against him, and evidenced surprise when informed Gov. Tobin had announced: "I am conducting the hearing before myself in my office. I am giving the hearing."

A native of Sweden, former secretary to three governors and an ex-mayor of Beverly, MacDonald has been head of the state's biggest spending department since Dec. 24, 1940, when he was appointed to the $8000-a-year post by Gov. Saltonstall.

Gov. Tobin charged that the commissioner had four years of war to prepare for a postwar program and failed.

"The commonwealth will enter 1947 with a totally inadequate road system to meet the heaviest motor vehicle traffic our highways have seen," the Governor said.

"This will not alone result in great economic loss, but what is more important, in an unnecessary loss of human lives and an increase in the toll of seriously injured."

MacDonald's term does not expire until Jan. 31, 1947. He is the first state official whom Tobin has sought to remove. His reappointment in 1944 by the then Gov. Saltonstall was made over the protests of workers in his department who called him "arbitrary, incompetent and hostile to civil service."

Among those who opposed him was Ulysses J. Lupien, director of civil service, who said favoritism was rife, promotions retarded, pay withheld and reputations broken in the public works department.

More recently MacDonald was charged with delaying the $15,000,000 Logan airport development.

Mandatory Vet Setups Urged for Towns

Legislation to make it mandatory for cities and towns to set up veterans' centers was recommended today by representatives of the recess commission on post-war problems to the legislative committee on military affairs.

Sen. Ralph C. Mahar of Orange, a member of the commission, said: "A majority of our cities and two-thirds of our towns have failed to take advantage of the permissive legislation."

Cop-eration for Parker

Louis C. Krauthohn, 25, discharged Army veteran studying at Boston University, not only got a break in East Cambridge District Court today but was given police co-operation in an effort to find garage or parking space for his car.

Krauthohn admitted four offenses in parking on Ash st., near his Memorial dr., Cambridge, home but declared he had sought parking without success.

Out-of-Town Cabbies Ticketed at Airport

Boston traffic patrolmen today handed out tickets to out-of-town taxicab drivers found picking up passengers at the Logan International Airport taxi stand. Several other outside cabs were shooed away from the fare pick-up line, which is reserved for Boston cabs only.

12 Hurt as El Bus Crashes Ashmont Station

Twelve persons were injured, 11 seriously enough to require hospitalization, and hundreds of morning rush hour workers were delayed in the resultant traffic snarl, when an inbound bus from the Mattapan station crashed into a wall at the Ashmont station entrance in Dorchester ave. shortly before 8 a. m.

Taken to City Hospital, all from Dorchester, were:

MARY HAVERTY, 20, Freehold st., questionable shoulder fracture. CATHERINE, her sister, 19, shock.

MRS. ANNA FRISLIARD, 43, Dorchester ave., bruises and nausea.

JAMES H. FLANAGAN, 50, St. Gregory st., chest contusions.

FRANK J. LEARY, 42, Carson st., questionable fractures of knee and arm.

PATROLMAN PETER L. FUREY, 54, St. Gregory st., questionable fracture of shoulder and neck.

MRS. ANNA DOHERTY, 48, River st., questionable leg fracture.

MRS. HELEN BOYLE, 44, St. Gregory st., questionable fracture of the shoulder.

EVELYN MACKEY, 21, Dorchester ave., questionable shoulder fracture.

ZOWE COMPLIS, 30, Dorchester ave., concussion.

MISS MARY DRISCOLL, 48, Old Morton st., contusions of neck and chin.

Despite his own severe injuries, Patrolman Furey helped some of the women, who were hysterical, to get out of the smashed bus. He gave first aid while police ambulances were on the way.

The bus driver, Thomas E. Burke, Epping st., Dorchester, who suffered bruises and cuts on the face, joined Furey in quieting the victims. Burke was given first aid by ambulance men.

Freak Fire Stirs Chelsea, Revere

Flames sweeping through a field near Chelsea creek, Revere, gave rise to fears that an oil tank was afire today as heavy smoke billowed over Chelsea and Revere.

Firemen explained the black smoke resulted from oil drippings in the grass. The burned-over area, in the rear of the Forbes Lithograph Co., is where many tank cars have been filled.

The blaze was quickly controlled and storage tanks were not endangered.

'Pappy's' Ex-Wife Weds Her Newsboy Sweetheart

YAKIMA, Wash., March 21
 (INS)—Mrs. Helen Boyington, ex-wife of Lt. Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington, Marine flying ace, made up her mind again and now is married to her newsboy sweetheart, George L. Gilbert. Last week, blonde Helen said she wasn't going to marry Gilbert, when in his own words, "runs the best corner in Seattle," because of her health. Came a change of heart. The couple disappeared from Seattle, and an anonymous telephone call to a newspaper office reported them on their way to Vancouver, B. C.
 Surprisingly, they turned up in
 Yakima and were married by Rev.
 Robert McLean, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. They were honeymooning today in Yakima.

Theride said she had known her news-vending mate for 18 months.

The couple applied for a license to wed last Saturday in Seattle.
 Next day, long before the three-day waiting period was up, the former Mrs. Boyington called a Seattle newspaper to say that
 "it's all over."

Even while the 33-year-old newsboy sold his papers, Mrs.
 Boyington said:

"I'm not going to marry because of my health. It is all over.
 I don't feel well enough to get married now, and I don't know when I will."

Gilbert had mused aloud to reporters:

"I told her a million times I ain't got a million bucks like pappy, but my corner is the best in town. Good steady money, not an awful lot—$50 to $60 a week."

Tardy Taxpayers Face Hub Action

Twenty deputy tax collectors today began a tour of homes and offices of persons listed as owing the city $2,778,040 in delinquent personal property taxes.

The campaign will continue until April 20, and those refusing to arrange payments will be prosecuted
 by the city law department, Mayor
 Curley said.

Legion State Chief Hails Oratory Test

By BERT FORD

Tribute from a leader who represents more than 75,000 Massachusetts' veterans, fighting men of World Wars I and II, came today from State Com. George W. Gardner, Massachusetts Dept., American Legion, in endorsement of the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest.

Com. Gardner paid special tribute to the subject of the contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," a soldier who, like the Legion veterans, fought for his country during the critical days of two wars.

Through study of such heroes of American history, Com. Gardner declared, America and her institutions will be strengthened. He said:

"Through means such as the annual Hearst Newspapers' Nationals Oratorical Contest," Com. Gardner said, "The Hearst newspapers are performing a significant public service to help America understand its history and its traditions."

"Such understanding of history and the great men who made history strengthens America and her institutions. Through such contests, our young people will learn to know better the real foundation upon which this great nation rests. We of the American Legion are always interested in such patriotic oratorical enterprise. The topic selected, 'Andrew Jackson,' is timely and interesting."

As intramural contests in Boston high schools and colleges were in full swing, it was announced yesterday that Boston College will hold its intramural finals tomorrow, at University Heights.

Rev. Joseph E. McInnis, S.J., has been selected by Rev. Stephen A. Mulcahy, S.J., to conduct the elimination trials. Great interest in the contest has been shown by Boston College students and keen competition is expected.

True Patriot

The administration of Andrew Jackson was one of the most memorable in the history of our country. He was applauded by one country, condemned by another, and it was said that no man had more bitter enemies or more devoted friends.

But history has clearly proved that many acts of Jackson's administration, which were at the time denounced, are now vindicated by the infallible judgment of time. It is undeniable that with the masses of the people Gen. Jackson was one of the most popular Presidents of all. Modern historians admit that with all his impetuous faults he was a true patriot, honestly seeking only the good of his country.

Suffer from constipation? Want relief without drugs? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

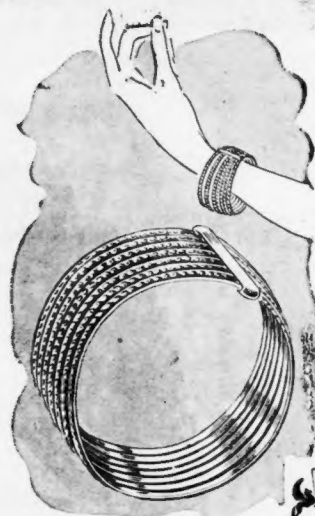

"I am nearly 77 years old. I've been eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning for more than 15 years. I am happy to make this unsolicited testimonial. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN has every fine and beneficial quality which you claim for it." William Thurn. R-4, Wabash, Indiana.

You, too, may never have to take another laxative as long as you live—for constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet—if you eat ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. Try it as a delicious cereal—and in muffins.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a good, wholesome cereal made from the vital outer layers of wheat, supplying gentle bulk, helpful to normal laxation. Eat it every day for ten days and drink plenty of water. If not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich. Get double your money back.

VANCOUVER, Wash., March 21 (AP)—Clark County's huge road grading machine—one with a 12-foot blade—has disappeared. Road crewmen parked it on a lonely road two months ago.

When the county commissioners called for the grader, it was gone. Crews said they had left it unguarded as customary—because nobody ever expected to lose anything that big.

Revere Sugar Strike Voted

Five hundred Revere Sugar Refinery employees, members of the Sugar Refiners Workers' Union, CIO, voted today to strike April 6 unless their demands for a 15-cent an hour wage increase were met.

The workers were ordered to return to their jobs at the Revere refinery in Charlestown after the strike vote was taken.

85 Sleep, Eat In Strike Plant

BUCKRUS, O., March 21 (AP)—Some 85 employees of the strike-bound Crawford Steel Co. breakfasted on doughnuts and coffee inside the plant today and then went to work after sleeping the night at factory benches and office desks.

The employees, carrying groceries and blankets, entered the factory yesterday before CIO pickets formed lines at the usual hour of 7 a. m., and announced they intended to stay inside until the two-months-old wage dispute is settled.

The shut-in said work had progressed to the place "where we expect to pour some metal today." The plant's general manager, S. McClure, predicted the factory would reach 50 per cent of production capacity by tomorrow.

McClure said he knew of no plans for feeding and housing the returned workers, but it was reported foremen, permitted by pickets to enter and leave the plant at will, were carrying in food and that plans were under way to bring in cots for sleeping comfort.

Japs Predict Big Reparations

TOKYO, March 21 (AP)—Japan may have to pay her conquerors 258,650,000,000 yen ($17,243,333,333) in reparations, the newspaper Yomiuri-Hochi predicted today, and that an estimated 250,000,000,000 yen ($16,666,666,666) worth of Jap assets overseas would be taken as reparations by the allied nations, with the Japanese government also paying an estimated 8,650,000,000 yen ($576,666,666) to owners of industrial plants marked for seizure within Japan.

Yomiuri said the Japanese cabinet was planning a basic reparations bill for a special session of the Diet.

SNIFILES?

Gargle quickly before germ complicates a cold... up to 96.7% germ reduction in actual tests with Listerine Antiseptic.

The time to strike at a cold is at its very outset... to go after the throat surface germ before they go after
 you. Gargle full-strength Listerine
 Antiseptic, right away!

Actual tests showed reductions of bacteria on mouth and throat surface ranging up to 96.7% fifteen minutes after the Listerine Antiseptic gargle and up to 30% one hour after.
 In tests over a 12-year period, those who gargled Listerine Antiseptic today had fewer colds, and usually had milder colds, and fewer sore throats, than those who did not gargle Listerine
 Antiseptic.

Arthur E. Graves Last Rites Held

WORCESTER, March 21 —
 Funeral services were held at the Jewell-King funeral home today for Arthur E. Graves, 65, of Wachusett st., prominent orchard-list and amateur fisherman, who died Tuesday night at Fairlawn Hospital.

The Rev. Joseph Beach of the First Universalist Church officiated and burial was in Greenville Cemetery.

Graves, born in Rochdale, the son of Albert A. and Emma Ackley Graves, came to Worcester in 1910 and later developed extensive orchard properties in his native town.

He was a member of the Massachusetts Fruit Growers' Ass'n,
 the Worcester Economic Club,
 Athelstan Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and the Greenville Baptist Church.
 Surviving are his widow, Mrs.
 Alice Burlingame Graves, a daughter, Mrs. Avis Burns, of Newton
 Center, and two grandchildren.

Ex-Seabee Sues Wife in Triangle

Robert L. Gorman, 31, Sewall st., Marblehead, a former Seabee, told Judge John A. Costello in Salem probate court today his wife, Blanche, wrote to him in the Pacific she had fallen in love while he was away and was going to have a baby.

He quoted her as writing: "I am sorry I had to hurt you but what can I say now? What's done is done." He asked divorce on grounds of misconduct and sought custody of their two children, 10 and 7. The case was taken under advisement.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "form" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have cured over 1500 sinus sufferers! Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Smart Set Final A. M. Musicale

By BETTY ALDEN

VIOLETS, GARDENIAS AND ROSES were almost as plentiful in the Statler Ballroom as at the Flower Show yesterday. Gay little hats made of all sorts of brilliant flowers topped dark dresses and suits and won hands down as the favorite springtime costume of the Hub's up and coming socialites at the final Morning Musicale of the season. Gladys Swarthout, glamorous star of the Metropolitan Opera, was guest artist. Mrs. William C. Cox, head of the bevy of Musicale ushers, wore a black dress with bustle back and perky hat of salmon pink roses. Mrs. John Hoar chose a dark tailored suit and circlet of flowers and Mrs. Charles Matz, attending with her daughter, Mrs. Garfield Horn of Washington, had a cluster of flowers in her lovely white hair to complement her checked touse suit and robin's egg blue blouse.

Mrs. Walter Merriam Pratt, wife of the Governor of the Society of Colonial Dames which holds its spring luncheon today at the Parker House, was as perfectly groomed as always in a white bumper beret trimmed with jewels, and a slim black dress. Mrs. Robert Hoffman attended the concert and later hustled off to luncheon at the Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs Music Festival.

Younger marrieds in the audience included Mrs. Dudley Talbot with her cousin, Mrs. George Bottomley (Lydia Fuller); Mrs. H. Harrison Culver, Mrs. Edwin Bradford Holmes, 2d, whose husband has just returned from overseas, Mrs. Frederick Troy, Jr., Mrs. William Hunt, Mrs. John Filoon in a black and white printed silk dress and white flower hat, and Mrs. William Green, a new member of the committee and wife of a prominent doctor. OPEN THURSDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

"Mr. Kelly will see the man with train reservations now. He'll see you auditors later!"

Robert Terry, just back from Mexico, wore one of the new short box jackets of coral wool; Mrs. A. Barr Comstock was on from Washington for the concert, and Mrs. Winthrop Jameson of Weston, in a modish navy and white printed silk hat to match the blouse of her beige suit, was with her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Bell.

SUITS WILL BE TOPS in the Easter Parade judging by the styles displayed in a fashion luncheon at The Somerset's Ballroom yesterday. Many fashionable Bostonians were in the throng attending the affair to make notes on what the well dressed woman will wear this spring.

MRS. JOHN KNOWLES of Cohasset had a table for two with Mrs. William Long, Jr., whose sister-in-law, Mrs. Irving Chase, was one of the Hart Girls modelling in the show. At a nearby table Mrs. William Minot, another social registerite model, was taking a busman's holiday. She lunched with Mr. and Mrs. Freeman W. Hill of Brookline, both girls in modish spring suits and hatless. Mrs. F. Cobb Chilton brightened her gray pinstripe suit with a coral blouse.

MRS. HAROLD G. KERN, just returned from a vacation in Hollywood where she was entertained by many movie stars, attended with Mrs. James Murley and Mrs. Chester Harris. Jeanne Fellows Steele, who has also done a great deal of fashion modelling, was with her mother-in-law, Mrs. W. D. Steele, and Mrs. Edward M. Gallagher, Jr., in a gray suit and gray sailor piped with white pique, had a table with Jean Prouty Fuller.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes
Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have excess acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Army Food Cut To Feed World

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)

—In line with President Truman's plan to help feed a hungry world, the Army is tightening its belt.

The Quartermaster Corps has revised its menus to cut by 6 1/2 pounds for each vegetable the amounts of canned asparagus, beans, spinach and tomatoes served to 100 men.

Mess cooks in preparing for 100 men also will fix only 10 pounds of beans instead of 15; 20 pounds of cabbage instead of 25, and 65 pounds of potatoes instead of 75.

Bread has been cut from 15 pounds to 12 for each 100 men at each meal. There are also smaller portions of breakfast foods.

"Let them Come!"

There's really no excuse for not keeping social engagements just because you feel "let down" due to menstruation's functional cramps, headache, "blues". Midol will see you through—bring you quick comfort with this three-way help. Ease Cramps — Soothe Headache — Stimulate milk when you're "Blue".

Midol contains no opiates. Take it with confidence and enjoy real comfort. Ask your druggist for Midol today.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I am planning to re-enlist in the Army under the new enlistment plan, immediately after I receive my discharge at Ft. Devens, which should be sometime this week. When my re-enlistment period expires, two years hence, will I be eligible to apply for the position I held down, prior to original induction? L. S., Ft. Devens.

Q—What is the status of a member of the Merchant Marine who left civilian employment to serve his country in the marine service, relative to gaining back his old job?—L. W. E., Framingham.

A—He has 40 days following discharge from that branch to apply for job. If he has any difficulty in getting employer to take him back contact Re-employment Officer at local draft board.

Q—I have discovered that I am not eligible for Mass. state bonus because I registered and entered service from Rhode Island even though my legal address was Dorchester. What bonus has Rhode Island granted veterans? D. H., Dorchester.

A—Rhode Island Legislature adopted a bill awarding $200 to its veterans. Under the state constitution the bill is placed before the people in form of a referendum at a special election to be held later.

Q—Is the Army anticipating a regulation that would result in the discharge of men who have served 18 months? T. P., East Boston.

Not that I know of. Congress, however, was asked today by Gen. Eisenhower to extend the draft indefinitely and limit service of volunteers to 18 months.

Q—I was honorably discharged from the Army, Sept. 20, 1940 because of disability. Am I eligible for a GI loan for the purpose of buying a home? M. E. F., A.—The G. I. Bill provides that in order to be eligible for benefits a man must have been in the service 90 days or more following Sept. 16, 1940. You have only four days. If discharged because of a disability incurred while in service, however, you are eligible for the benefits.

MAYBE!

BUT YOU PROMISED ME A NEW SCOOTER, MA!

SURE BUT YOU'RE LIKE THE "EL" - THEY'RE STILL WAITING FOR NEW BUSES LIKE YOUR DAD IS WAITING FOR HIS NEW CAR.

SO DID WE! BUT BETWEEN 65,000 AND 75,000 RIDERS ARE STILL ENTERING OUR DOWNTOWN STATIONS BETWEEN 8 AM & 9 PM.

WOW! THE "EL" SURE CARRYING AN AWFUL LOAD THESE DAYS.

YOU'RE NOT KIDDIN'. BUT TAKING THE "EL" IS BETTER THAN TRYING TO FIND A PLACE TO PARK.

THOUGHT THE END OF THE WINTER MEAN THE END OF THESE RUSSHOV CROWDS.

REMEMBER LAST DECEMBER WHEN THE CHARLESTOWN BRIDGE WAS WRECKED BY A BIG SHIP?

SURE DO. STILL CAN'T FIGURE OUT HOW THE "EL" MANAGED TO GET IT BACK IN SHAPE IN ONLY 73 HOURS.

NEITHER DO I. I KNOW I CAN'T MAKE AS GOOD TIME IN MY CAR AS I DID BEFORE THE WAR!

I DON'T SEE HOW "EL" BUSES DO AS WELL AS THEY DO THE WAY TRAFFIC IN THESE DAYS.

WELL, PROBABLY IT WILL. I UNDERSTAND THEY ARE EXPECTING QUITE A FEW BUSES BY SUMMER.

GEE, I WISH THE "EL" WOULD GIVE BETTER BUS SERVICE.

THAT'S BECAUSE IT'S THE BUSIEST TRANSFER POINT ON THE SYSTEM - WITH SEVEN SUBWAY LINES BRINGING IN CAPACITY CROWDS.

THERE'S ALWAYS A BIG RUSH-HOUR CROWD AT PARK STREET. I WONDER WHY?

OH BOY! FIRST DAY OF SPRING! NO MORE SHOVELING SNOW FOR YOURS TRULY.

BET THE "EL'S" PRETTY HAPPY ABOUT IT, TOO. I'M TOLD IT COST THEM ABOUT 1450,000 THIS WINTER JUST FOR SNOW REMOVAL AND WHAT THEY DID CERTAINLY HELPED EVERYBODY.

THAT TRUE ABOUT THE "EL" CARRYING 125,000,000 MORE PASSENGERS IN 1945 THAN IN 1940.

YUP, BUT LOOK AT THE "EL" - THE WAR IS STILL ON FOR THEM. CAN'T GET PARTS TO REPAIR THEIR EQUIPMENT.

YOU BET 420,000,000 OF THEM LAST YEAR AND WITHOUT NEARLY ENOUGH NEW EQUIPMENT.

GOOD TO SEE ALL THOSE CIGARETTES ON DISPLAY. REMEMBER THE SHORTAGE DURING THE WAR?

Q—What is the status of a member of the Merchant Marine who left civilian employment to serve his country in the marine service, relative to gaining back his old job?—L. W. E., Framingham.

YES—A TOUGH WINTER, BUT WE LOOK FOR BETTER CONDITIONS

We'd like to say for certain that the worst is over. And it would be over, if only all the new equipments on order could be delivered soon.

We feel reasonably certain that 100 of our 232 buses on order will be delivered by mid-summer.

Also on order are 31 P.C.C. cars. These can be delivered to us within 60 days after the plants making them resumes operations.

Of the trackless trolleys on order, 25 ought to be delivered by Labor Day.

We hope that a more abundant supply of vital replacement and repair parts will be delivered to us in the months ahead, thereby enabling us to reduce the number of vehicles out of service for want of such parts.

As production conditions improve, you will find this improvement reflected in better "El" service.

BUT HERE'S SOMETHING YOU CAN BANK ON

Our new spring schedules provide more frequent service on the surface car, bus and trackless trolley lines. Some of these schedules are already in effect and the others will be in operation by mid-April.

BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY

THAT'S EASY! THERE ARE MORE OF US GOING TO ARLINGTON HEIGHTS THAN TO HURON AVENUE.

IT'S TOO BAD WE DON'T HAVE STAGGERED HOURS FOR WORK THE WAY WE USED TO.

I'VE BEEN WAITING HERE FOR A HURON AVENUE TRACKLESS TROLLEY AND NOTHING HAS COME BUT ARLINGTON HEIGHTS CARS. HOW COME?

Spring Brings Cheery Thoughts To Children's Hospital Shut-Ins

Spring arrived right on time at 12:33 a. m. today for all who love the great outdoors and to the everlasting delight of little hospital shut-ins.

It might be great news for sweethearts and a signal that the fishing and baseball season is about to begin, yet to bedridden children it meant they soon will be wheeled out-of-doors and held out the hope they soon will be well.

Spring was really in the air in every ward at the Children's Hospital today. Children seemed certain they soon would be going home to their former playmates.

Sunny beaches seemed to beckon. Appetites picked up over night and smiles returned to faces that a few months ago knew no laughter. There's nothing like the coming of spring at a hospital. It usually means that "moving home day" is not far off.

Dorothy French, 4, one of the cheeriest patients at the Children's Hospital, was all decked out for the photographer today. She had her doll scrubbed bright and clean also.

Little Barbara Reardon, 5, also was in the mood for a bit of dressing up. She insisted on a hair ribbon and a bit of combing before she posed shyly for the cameraman.

David Voss, 2½, never found spinach that tasted so good. It means added strength and a chance to return again to his pals.

But Michael Hadley, 3, is certain that spring is just great. To get well quick he's eating double-headers and topping off with additional whole wheat bread for desert.

It's Spring Again—And anxious to get on the go again are (top to bottom) David Voss, 2½; Michael Hadley, 3, and Barbara Reardon, 5, patients at Children's Hospital. They're looking ahead to discharges and the opportunity to join their playmates. . . and appetites are improving as a result.

REAL VICTIMS OF THE OPA

REPRESENTATIVES of industry and commerce have been appearing at Washington as "witnesses" against governmental price fixing.

The reason is that the Wartime Emergency Price Control Act will expire on June 30 unless Congress continues it, and the House Committee on Banking and Currency is holding hearings on the issue.

There is grave danger that the public may be misled by New Deal propaganda into believing that "big business alone wants the OPA and related agencies abolished."

The testimony at Washington shows clearly enough that production of manufactured goods of all descriptions is being prevented by bureaucratic price restrictions at the very time when unlimited production is necessary to help avert an inflationary disaster.

As a consequence, of course, the thousands of large department stores through the country are unable to get quality merchandise in any important volume at any price, and are compelled to sell gimcracks and inferior products, including clothing, at excessive prices.

But it will be most unfortunate if, through lack of information and understanding, the public is betrayed into the opinion that only the large merchants and manufacturers are sufferers.

Actually, the public itself is the real victim of the New Deal's policy of regimentation and compulsion—victimized on one hand by being deprived of articles that are essential in the American standard of living, victimized on the other hand by black market practices and extortions.

And the worst effects upon the public are just beginning to be felt—IN THE KITCHENS AND DINING ROOMS OF AMERICAN HOMES.

REPRESENTATIVE BOREN of Oklahoma has informed Congress that small storekeepers are being driven out of business.

He cited the instance of eighty-eight grocers in his own State who were fined by the OPA because of unintentional errors in complying with "complicated" changes in price ceilings.

"It is the little fellow," said Mr. Boren, "who is being destroyed by the present unjust and erroneous methods of administration."

At the same time, the National Independent Meat Packers Association was appealing to the government to abolish price control of "meats and meat animals."

Asserting that "price control on meat has completely broken down" and that there is now "more inflation than there would be in a free market," the packers said:

"The people are paying over $700,000,000 a year to maintain the fiction of price control and countless additional millions are being paid by consumers in the form of black market prices."

"The government is hurt by $700,000,000 spent to no purpose but to subsidize an enormous black market."

In complete confirmation of this, all the meat packers in Kansas—including Swift, Armour, Wilson, Cudahy, John Morrell & Co., Fred Dold & Sons and the Parson Packing Co.—have reduced their operations AS MUCH AS 80 PER CENT and smaller meat packers in that production area have suspended business entirely because OPA regulations are causing them a net loss of $15 on every head of beef.

A spokesman for these leaders in the industry said:

"Anybody who is doing business on a legitimate basis can't operate under the present OPA regulations."

"Only the black market and those who juggle their books can do it."

In other words, businessmen must either be dishonest or go out of business.

FROM STILL ANOTHER great good-production group—the American Dairy Association—comes a similar report.

In the midst of "the most critical food situation in the history of the world," said Mr. D. T. Carlson, president of the association, dairy herds are disappearing by thousands, milk production has declined by many millions of pounds in the last few months, and the health-building dairy foods are vanishing from the American bill of fare.

Mr. Carlson said that in two states alone—Minnesota and Wisconsin—725 creameries and dairies have been put out of business, and in Indiana, emergency local measures have had to be taken to maintain even a short milk supply.

In back of the dairymen are the dairy farmers who are being ruined by the prevailing governmental policies.

"Farmers don't have feed," Mr. Carlson explained. "They don't have labor."

"Price discrimination has driven thousands of farmers out of dairying altogether."

"These are not mere statistics."

"They are a sentence of death—a message of starvation to the millions abroad who can look only to America for food."

More slowly and by its own methods, the New Deal is plainly going to self-reliant American farmers what the Bolsheviks did to the Russian "kulaks"—it is liquidating them as a self-supporting and productive class.

Let our agriculture be reduced to the status of socialized enslavement, and the American people will soon be as ill-nourished and hungry as the Russians are.

HAVING INVADED the harness horse racing field, the mutual machine industry is making some radical changes in this grand old sport. These are quite apparently designed to appeal to the patrons of the betting machines rather than the lovers of the sport. One of these changes is the use of a starting gate. This eliminates the regulation running start, which real harness horse fans consider not only interesting, but an important part of the race, even though it greatly irritates the gamblers.

HORSES & WOMEN: Now Gene Tunney is worrying about the female of the species winning the battle of the sexes and getting the upper hand in both home and business world. In an article in which Mr. Tunney viewed this situation with a horrified alarm, he said: "In many organizations there are women executives with mere males as their secretaries." No doubt the number of feminine executives is increasing, but I have yet to see one dictating a letter to a male secretary. Have you?

SIDELIGHTS: Add nominations for the Repeating Name Club: Mr. Horst Horst of New York City. Now I have a reader in Tomahawk, Wis., but none I know of in Broken Bow, Neb., or Medicine Hat, Canada. Am asked when the songs "Shoo Fly Don't Bother Me," "Wait for the Wagon," and "Champagne Charlie" were introduced. Couldn't say exactly. Believe these were popular in the late eighties or early part of the Gay Nineties.

PLEASE NOTE: "I was a grandmother at 31," writes a Chicagoan, "now at 43 I have six lovely children, seven equally lovely grandchildren, weigh 110 pounds, wear size 11 dress. Am often mistaken for being only 25 years old."

OVERWORKED WORD: Rare among females is one possessed of originality of expression. Practically all women talk alike. For example, 99 1/2 per cent of wives call their husbands "Darling." They also address their feminine friends as "Darling."

Also their children and their dogs. And they further overwork the word by making it serve as a descriptive adjective, with such gushy exclamations as "Isn't that a perfectly darling hat?" "what a darling little house you have!" And so on, and on and on.

RECORD: In 1916 FRANCIS X. Bushman lived at the Coliseum Apartments, 116th st. and Riverside drive, New York city. At that time, Mr. Bushman kept in his apartment six full-grown Great Dane dogs, one Boston bull and 10 Great Dane puppies. That was 17 dogs in all. If that isn't the record for number of dogs kept in one Manhattan apartment, what is?

THEIR PROBLEM: Have received a letter signed by 11 business girls of New York city. In this communication these young women state: "We just can't get any nylons, rayon or even cotton stockings. Hosiery is put on sale during the hours we are working. So the housewives get all the stockings. Why not special hosiery sales for business girls, at hours convenient for them? Surely a girl working in an office has a greater need for nylons than a housewife who should get along with one or two pairs as she can wear slacks, go barelegged or don bobby socks while doing her housework."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Has there ever been a stage or screen star whose first name was Stella? A—Can't remember any film stars so named. But there was a clever actress named Stella Mayhew. And there is a Metropolitan Opera star named Stella Roman. Q—Am I right in saying if a man does not remember Harry Lumley playing the outfield for the Dodgers he cannot rightly call himself a Brooklyn Young Optimist? A—You are exactly right, sir.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I SHALL LIMIT myself in this story to first names as I have no desire to become an accessory to murder.

Irma is an American girl, born in Cincinnati of Hungarian parents. A copy of her birth certificate is now in my possession. She found herself in Europe during the war and was seized as a slave. Her mother writes as follows:

"I please you very much if it is possible for you to get the papers of my daughter Irma. We are in trouble and I am begging you to try to get them hurriedly. If you haven't time for it please ask Uncle Carl to do it for me."

"Irma is in Russia on work at present with others. And the children that are from mixed marriages are sent home and I can't prove it without her papers. It is very need of them now. When she was born there was made a mistake they wrote me as a German and if you could please to fix it orderly. Here they know that I am Hungarian really..."

THE MOTHER is in error about being described as a German because the birth certificate clearly states that she is Hungarian.

But I do not see that that matters at all. Irma is an American by birth, a citizen of Ohio, entitled to the protection of the American government.

Her friends went to the American Red Cross and were told that they could do nothing about an American citizen taken into slavery.

They took the matter up with their Congressman—William E. Hess. He wrote to the State Department three times: the first letter was not answered; the second received one of those we'll-look-into-it things.

To the third, the State Department replied that it had received a report from its representative in Yugoslavia that Irma had been taken to the Ukraine to work there by the Red army in November, 1944.

The State Department's representative in Moscow has been instructed to try to ascertain from the Russian government Irma's whereabouts.

AS IT STANDS, nobody knows where Irma is. An American girl has been seized by an alien army, theoretically allied to us, and is put into slavery.

Her mother seeks her in desperation. Her friends seek her almost hopelessly. Our government seems to be impotent.

We once fought a war to end slavery but now we find that an American—and how many more?—has been made a slave, moved from one place to another like cattle, deprived of the right to communicate with her family and friends, forbidden to notify the officials of her own government as to her whereabouts, unable to return to her birthplace, Cincinnati, Ohio.

I do not give her family name in this story because the Red army which enslaved her might shoot her mother for trying to rescue her daughter from durance vile and brutal.

That is what Winston Churchill meant by the iron curtain that has come down on the stage of Eastern Europe.

It is dark there for those who have to live as slaves.

Slavery is the degradation of man; it is the liquidation of the dignity of man. No decent person can tolerate the enslavement of any human being, the holding in bondage of a single person whether friend or foe.

Slavery does not merely mean involuntary servitude; it means that the will of the enslaved ceases to be free; that his mind and character, as well as his body, are the possession of another; that he is by force debased to a thing.

No American can, in conscience, condone slavery. The American government dare not permit its existence.

We have shed too much of our own good blood to permit this iniquity to be re-established.

HOLLYWOOD, March 21—Claudette Colbert, who hasn't made a movie on the M-G-M lot since she and Clark Gable zoomed in "Boom Town" is a headlin' back there — and for a perfectly swell role. She will co-star with Walter Pidgeon in "The Secret Heart," an original Rose Franken wrote, with the privileges of later putting it on the stage. Dramatic and with a lot of sentiment, it's the sort of thing Claudette does so well — which is probably the idea Edward Knopf had in mind when he penned her.

Meanwhile, the lady has been having a perfectly "lervely" time in New York vacationing with her husband, Dr. Joel Pressman. When a New York columnist wrote that the Pressmans were expecting the stork, Claudette sent word to me: "If it were true, I would tell you first and then go out and ring fire bells I'd be so happy."

BUDDY ROGERS starts shooting "Little Iodine" on Mary Pickford's birthday, April 8, and today he was very happy because he had found Little Iodine. She's Jo Ann Marlowe, the girl who played Joan Crawford's youngest daughter in "Mildred Pierce"—remember the little girl who died? Buddy says he has Mark Kramer and Eve White signed for his movie, and Peggy Lorn will direct. Mary is in New York, where she went to arrange for his United Artists release. "Little Iodine" you've probably seen in the Sunday Advertiser.

SYPHATHY GOES to Aileen Pringle, Mrs. James Cain, in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Julie Bisbee. Two months after the slayings were over, less than Aileen and Julie, as Aileen used to call her mother, Mrs. Bisbee died in San Francisco. And today, Aileen flew there. Well-known in Hollywood, Mrs. Bisbee was a native Californian, having been born near San Francisco. She had been ailing for some time, but when her death came, it came suddenly. Aileen used to go to the parties and the affairs of Hollywood parties and she was extremely popular with all of her daughter's friends. She will be missed. Aileen's husband, James Cain, WASHINGTON, March 21.—One of the most fantastic episodes of the war, which explains the reports of an attempted assassination upon Admiral King at the 1943 Quebec conference, was divulged to a few close friends by Winston Churchill the other evening.

The inside Mountbatten story was recounted by Mr. Churchill after one of the gathering happened to mention the "Habakkuk project" which called for the construction of a 2,000,000-ton aircraft carrier out of an iceberg.

Mr. Churchill's dinner partner asked why the project had been named "Habakkuk." The Briton said he thought it may have been named by someone who thought highly of the Biblical prophet of the same name, but that he personally had the well-known novelist, will fly to San Francisco to join his wife for the funeral.

PIERRE J. HUSS, who's back in California after having covered the Nuernberg trials for the Hearst papers, is completing his book, "Whom the Gods Destroy." He tells the inside Hitler stories, including, of course, the Fuehrer's life with his mistress, Eva Braun. The book will be published in the autumn by Appleton Co. Pierre says he stopped in New York en route home and paid his bet with Cupid, marrying Marianne Dubelle, former New York book model. For eight years, Pierre has been so busy covering the war and the subsequent Nuernberg trials he didn't get a chance to think about marriage. He's going back to Europe in September to do some more work. "I'll buy his book," he says, "and I'll be snapped up by the movies, but quick."

MITCHELL FERRER, who is directing Jose Ferrer—no relative—in "Cyrano de Bergerac" at the New York City Center. He has an interesting contract in his pocket. While here he signed Lillian Gish, who will play Roxane on the stage. Lillian told me that she leaves in April for New York, and she's very excited over doing the play, since she's always wanted to do it. While here, Mitchell Ferrer signed himself on a three-way deal with David Selznick, one of the most interesting angles being the discussion of him for Jennifer Jones' leading man in "Joan of Arc."

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Our most socially prominent Hollywood hostesses are getting their best gowns ready for March 30. That's the date Cady Grant, Jimmy Stewart, Eddy Duchin and Johnny McLain give a swank dinner-dance, either at the Bel-Air Hotel or Cary's home. They say they've eaten with every hostess in town, and now they want to show their appreciation and entertain the ladies who have entertained them. That will be party and all expenses with the boys doing the planning and carrying out every detail.

A MONTH OR SO ago I got word from Las Vegas that Boris Karloff had made plans to go there for the usual reason. That followed on his separation from Mrs. Karloff, but since then he has made no move to divorce her, or she him. Now I hear Sam Goldwyn has borrowed him from Universal for the Danny Kaye picture "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." In this movie the sinister, menacing Karloff doesn't have to wear his ghoul make-up. He plays the leader of a band of international thieves and scares the wits out of our Danny, but he plays his role straight.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANCHO DOM: Brenda Marshall, who expects the stork in five weeks, is down with chicken pox; for her dear Dead End Kid Huntz Hall will marry Doris Sands in New York in June. He was formerly a member of Anderson, Huddy and the Three Stooges. Buddy Rich, band leader, has been estranged from his wife, and Betty Doss, the girl who used to go night clubbing with George Raft, are an item; Herbert Marshall and Mrs. William Cagney (Boots Mallory) are seen everywhere together. Joe E. Brown at the party threw a party. Joe E. Brown gave after the opening of the Biltmore Hotel sentimental evening it was with Joe E. getting an ovation that brought down the Biltmore Theater. All his old friends rallied around him after the show at the Biltmore Hotel and met the members of his cast. Harry Crocker brought Inga Marnett who is just back from a visit to 22 states, where she told the citizens to "get on in the Sun." As a treat, Joe E. sat down in a chair on the stage after the final curtain and talked to the audience. He ribbed Jimmy Starr's laugh, which was heard above all else.

NOW IT'S Lynne Baggett who is occupying John Sheldon's evenings; the Irving Nood's move into Paulette Goffard's beach house April 2; Wingy Manone, orchestra leader, and his ex wife tete-a-tete at Pepp's; and if it might be a reconciliation: Pepp and his wife smiles over that expected baby and Ted Briskin is pretty happy, too; Gar Wood, whose orchestra is completing its 16th week at the Statler Hotel in Boston, says he's glad he's got a new girl. He says her name is Marilyne Swain Burrage; from New York comes word that Ray Milland visited P. J. Clark's bar, which was used in "Lost Weekend." Ray's the only guy I've heard of who ordered a glass of milk there. He's having a wonderful time, but when he comes home he'll have to take a rest; the party Tyronne Power and Annabella are giving Saturday is for Mrs. Vincent Astor. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

ONE OR TWO POINTS in the confused Boston school system situation can stand a bit of clarifying for the benefit of Boston residents who have no personal interest in the badgered Clement A. Norton or his thousand or two enemies among the teachers . . . Reading the three requests submitted by the teachers who started the "revolt" against Norton and "politics" in the school system, the casual reader has the impression that the teachers get no sick leave—or pay while absent from duties during illness.

THE FIRST request of the dissatisfied teachers is that they be given "immediate grant of three days' sick leave with pay" . . . The fact is that all teachers get substantial allowances when ill . . . The allowances approximate half pay, and obtain for periods as brief as one day or as extended as one year . . . This corner has no argument with this condition of employment, and there can be no doubt that the picayune pay boosts given the Boston teachers in the past 20 years have not kept pace with increased living costs.

BUT IT IS PERMISSIBLE for a bystander to speculate on the motives of Boston school boards under a control as "non-political" as Plan E or a setup similar to the one of the Strayer report . . . Atty. George A. McLaughlin, the man the teachers hired to present a case against School Committee Chairman Norton as an "active advocate of Plan E," is almost a proponent of the school system which might be proposed as a relief from the present control by an elected school board would be based on school population . . . The school population of Boston has been in steady decline . . . Instead of numerous layoffs of teachers, however, the elected school boards of the past 20 years have acted on the first principle of professional politicians, namely, "hire—don't fire" . . . The fact is that many Boston high schools are over-staffed . . . There are too many teachers for the number of pupils . . . Any number of Boston schools must take that basic disproportion in consideration.

THAT AMAZING meeting in Tremont Temple Tuesday night was the talk of the town . . . Throughout the schools, it was the prime topic of conversation, naturally . . . Some of the rumors and reports that got around were farcical . . . The commander who jumped from a balcony to the floor of the auditorium, the "big black" who shot Norton, and became a commando when the newspaper reports of his action were amplified by some teachers who said they actually saw it . . . After two thousand persons in the audience had marched out, the chairman Norton got up and said that the man who had to shut off the microphone, some reports asserted.

For the record, at no time were there less than five persons in the hall . . . They were not the appropriate five, however . . . Clem was entitled at least to the attention of the other four members of the board . . . They should be his best audience—because of long practice . . . Mr. Norton may be sustained by the knowledge that his audiences at next year's rallies will be more numerous than the handful who heard him out.

ALREADY he is taking guise as a martyr in the minds of many voters . . . Anyone who is set upon by a mass of school teachers can be sure of some sympathy . . . Every ex-pupil who felt a rattan or got a series of bad report cards or failed to graduate maintains a grudge against the poor teachers . . . And as a class, they are the envy of the populace for that three-month vacation in the summer and their weeks of rest at Christmas and Easter.

Boston as a whole will feel the burden of the city's further loss of dignity should in Tremont Temple meeting —and those hilarious pictures

 Of the harried Clem shouting the alliance of the empty hall—get national, instead of local publicity in the news and picture magazines which delight in airing Boston's civic troubles to the nation. . . In keeping with the spiteful spirit of the entire comedy of errors, of the school committee for the next meeting should provide a hall with chandeliers . . .
 Among the disputants there must be some who like to climb them.

He said the reinforced ice would resist anything, including bombs, and was absolutely unsinkable.

"I told him to go ahead. A working model was constructed secretly at Patricia Lake, Jasper, Canada.

"The project was under way when the joint chiefs of staff met for the Quebec conference. Our military leaders and yours were gathered in a suite in the Hotel Frontenac when Lord Mountbatten again decided to give a demonstration.

"Two blocks of ice were brought in. Revolvers were produced and the Americans were invited to shoot at the ice.

"One of your top men—I think it may have been Adm. King—fired at the first block and it shattered to bits. But the second block resisted penetration—in fact, the bullet ricocheted.

"Everyone started shooting at the reinforced block and bullets were ricocheting when there was a hammering at the door. Guards said that reporters were outside clamoring for admission."

"We went out to talk to the reporters and the first thing one of them exclaimed was: "Has it come to this that the Allies are shooting each other?"

"I WILL TELL you some thing, though," he said. "It almost caused an international scandal."

Mr. Churchill lowered his voice to a pitch reminiscent of distant thunder and said the biggest enthusiast for the "Habakkuk project" was Lord Louis Mountbatten, who is known as the cousin of King George and also as "Mudbottom" to his friends.

"Lord Muddbottom—I mean Mountbatten, first broached the matter to me at my home, which is called 'Checkers', said the ex-prime minister. "We were having drinks. He came in with two cubes of ice which I thought was insufficient for drinking purposes but it seems he had something else on his mind.

"He handed me the cubes of ice and also a mallet. He said, 'Here, try to smash these.' I whanged the mallet on the first cube of ice and it splintered into smithereens.

"I tried to do the same with the second cube but couldn't even dent it. In fact, I pounded so vigorously I broke the mallet.

"Louis—Lord Mountbatten—then told me of the proposition to build an ice aircraft carrier.

Teachers meanwhile were ready to drop their demand for Norton's resignation and went ahead instead with plans for a City Club meeting Saturday at which they hoped to form an alliance of the city's 49 separate teacher organizations to seek better conditions in the schools.

Norton's latest statement asked publicly that the leaders of the various teacher groups get together with him informally as soon as possible to discuss their problems. He said he would like to buy them a lunch.

"As chairman of the committee," he said, "I wish to do everything possible to bring peace. The welfare of Boston's most precious asset, 100,000 children, is involved. If I had to walk down

I would like to buy the group a lunch.

"Perhaps I have made a mistake in the past in not getting together informally with this group more often. I am not the type that can nurse a supposed grievance. I have none of the 'get even' spirit in me.

"It hurts me to think that one single teacher feels that he or she has not been treated properly and I offer to visit any single teacher or group of teachers. If requested, at any time. I wish to do all possible to bring light and understanding for the sake of the children.

"This is the moment that I wish to be very humble, to be understanding, to be magnanimous, to be forgiving to everybody. I must have no bitterness in my heart."

Atty. West, however, remained bitter at Norton's public mention, during last Tuesday's uproarious Tremont Temple meeting, of a 10-year-old boy who was disciplined.

"This boy has adjusted himself to a new school and is doing well, according to his teacher," West said. "Every time Norton runs for office or gets into a jam like this, he drags the youngster's name into it. The boy's mother was in to see me weeping her eyes out.

"Norton claims to have helped this boy when as a matter of fact he is ruining his life by an uncontrolled desire for headlines. The boy's mother doesn't think he has helped him and I don't either.

If necessary, we will apply to the courts for an injunction to prevent Norton from further exploiting this child and harming his future. There must be some way to control his unbridled tongue."

Lee's statement declared he had no intention of defending Norton or adding to the accusations against him, but said he was making a problem out of every classroom by his actions on discipline cases.

"Mr. Norton insists on dragging his problem child across every classroom," he said. "He espouses the plight of such a child almost as loudly as though he burst into the classroom at the wheel of an ambulance with a large gong and a big sign on the side saying, 'Norton to the rescue.'"

"There are school facilities for special care and remedy for these youngsters, and Mr. Norton should give his time more completely to strengthening these special services and bureaus—to which he has already given good impetus.

"If he will seek to improve the special services, he will be doing the children of the city and the school system a lot of good."

Machinery Shortage Kills Newport Daily

NEWPORT, R. I., March 21 (AP)—The Newport Daily Herald, reporting indefinite suspension of daily publication because of mechanical difficulties, plans a weekly news magazine.

Churchill Sails; To Disc Life Story

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 21 (AP)—Winston Churchill, man of action, plans to dictate part of his memoirs while resting in bed.

The former British prime minister, who sailed for home this morning aboard the Queen Mary, took with him two electronic recording sets equipped with a special lapel microphone to be used alternately at the bedside and while pacing up and down.

He also purchased 1000 plastic discs, enough to record 250,000 words of the story of his life.

Workers at the Soundsciber Corp. plant here put, in overtime to complete the equipment—including a loud buzzer to remind him to change discs.

OVER 100 MILLION BOTTLES SOLD! SIMPLY GREAT FOR MONTHLY PAIN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does more than relieve monthly pain when due to female functional periodic disturbances. It also relieves accompanying weak, tired, nervous, cranky feelings—of such nature. Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such distress. It's also a great stomachic tonic!

"Money isn't everything, Cousin. What would life be without Ex-Lax?"

Yes, and we might add, why should anybody be without Ex-Lax? It costs only a dime or a quarter, yet you can't buy a better laxative at any price. Ex-Lax is so dependable—so effective. And so very gentle, too! Not too strong, not too mild, it's the "Happy Medium." And, of course, everybody likes that good chocolate taste! ## Goering Denies He Knew Of Prison Camp Slayings NUERNBERG, Germany, March 21 (AP)—Hermann Goering swore today he knew nothing of German concentration camp slaughters.

"Even Hitler didn't know all that went on because Himmler (head of the Gestapo) always kept these things extremely secret," the leading defendant of 22 Nazis on trial for war crimes told the international military tribunal.

Goering, still sharp in his seventh day on the stand, was emphatic as he sought to place the blame for camp horrors on the Gestapo chief, who committed suicide after capture.

"You mean to say even when kreisteleuters were informed of the concentration camps you, as second man of the Reich, didn't know?" asked British prosecutor Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe. "Didn't your friend Himmler inform you?"

Goering bristled and answered: "That is true. These things were kept from me—and I object to you designating Himmler as my friend."

Sir David attacked Goering's claim (ignorance by introducing a document, an order issued by kreisteleuters of Hesse-Nassau in 10, 1945, directing them to destroy all costs "in-stallation and records of concentration camps."

Goering retorted he had no prior knowledge of Hitler's order to execute RAF officers for escaping prison camp in March, 1944 and no power to prevent the slayings.

Scarletfever Halts Britishrides, Babes

TIDWICH, England, March 21 (AP)—Part of the GI bride reception camp here was placed under quarantine today following discovery of two cases of scarlet fever.

Officers said the outbreak was not serious but that 15 or 20 brides and babies who might have been exposed would be quarantined 10 days.

Their plans on the Bridgeport, scheduled to sail Saturday with 477, will be taken by later arrivals.

Comedy Champs Head for Keiths

Hollywood's comedy champions, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, are headed this way in their latest comedy for Universal, "Little Giant," which is to have its local premiere at Keith Memorial, Tuesday.

In "Little Giant," Costello is seen as the country boy. Abbott has a double chore, impersonating two of the tycoons with whom the roundman becomes involved. Costello continues to be pushed around throughout the unrolling.

Brenda Joyce is possibly the loveliest member of the supporting cast, with Jacqueline DeWitt, Elena Verdugo and Mary Gordon giving her close competition. Miss DeWitt plays a scheming charmer who would take advantage of our bumpkin, who is fortunate in having the sympathetic protection of Miss Joyce. But it's Miss Verdugo who gets him.

"Smooth as Silk," a thriller drama with Kent Taylor and Virginia Grey, is to be teamed with the Abbott and Costello attraction.

"The Lost Weekend" At Scollay, Olympia

Paramount's Academy Award-laundered "The Lost Weekend," brings Ray Milland, best screen actor of 1945, to the Olympia and Scollay Sq. screens today.

The year's "best picture" has been doing sensational business at the Met and the Paramount and Fenway Theaters. Partnered with it will be "How Do You Do?" starring radio's Mad Russian, Bert Gordon, with his air partner, Harry Von Zell.

"Strike Me Pink" At Modern

"Strike Me Pink," the lavish musical starring Eddie Cantor, Ethel Merman and Parkyakarkas, tops the Modern's current screen program. The co-feature is "Splendor," with Joel McCrea and Miriam Hopkins.

Contour Bolero Trend--Adele Simpson

By RUTH MUGGLEBEN
Beauty and Fashion Editor

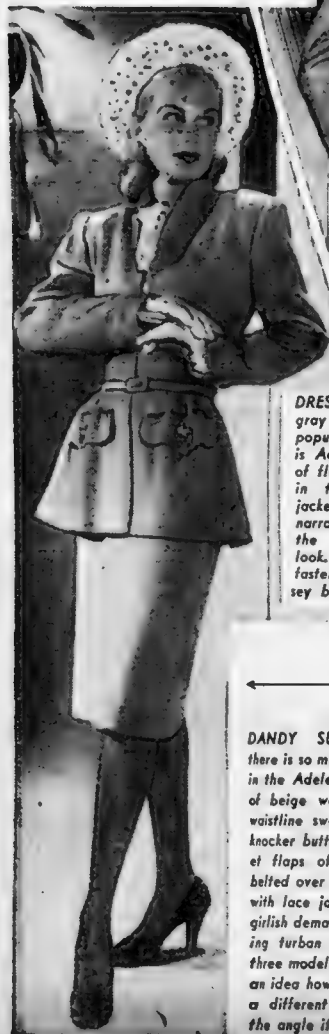

FASHION is the life we lead... reflected in the clothes we live in. The momentous changes affecting everything in our national and individual lives today will inevitably bring momentous changes in fashion. But this spring... fashion is as feminine and tender... but without silly frills... as creative hands can make it.

Adele Simpson, the fourth of our "34 Designers Dress You For Spring" series, likes to design the kind of clothes to be lived in. There's a special springiness in the clothes she creates for Mary Lee... and it has nothing to do with the calendar. It is the snap of peacetime joie de vivre... a lightness and charm which contrasts strongly with the somewhat tense vitality of the clothes we wore in the war years.

This season she favors: (1) duets... the companionate coat and dress, cut alike, moulded softly to a small waist with elaborate shoulder treatment and a built-out or draped hipline; (2) the contour bolero... short, tapered and trim, accenting a skirt full of new interest, such as the parapet hipline, with its jutting tuck shelving out all around; (3) the dandy suit... flared of hipline and both long and short to accommodate all figures... the suit that has flirtatious swagger and an 18th century feeling along with its usefulness in dramatizing pale colors and ruffled jabots on pure white blouses; (4) the vanity dress... emphasizing bosoms... half concealing, half revealing and altogether alluring for center position in the cocktail and informal evening picture.

(Tomorrow's designer: Brownie.)

34 Designers Dress You for Spring

DRESSMAKER suit in gray wool gabardine (a popular spring fabric) is Adele Simpson's way of flattering the hipline in the slightly-flared jacket. Revers are newly narrowed in contrast to the rounded-shoulder look. Gunmetal buttons fasten the pearl gray jersey blouse.

DANDY SUIT, about which there is so much to do this spring, in the Adele Simpson version, is of beige wool with below-the-waistline swagger. Gold door-knocker buttons fasten the pocket flaps of the jacket... belted over a white crepe blouse with lace jabot in keeping with girlish demands. The white ruching turban is the same on all three models... but it gives you an idea how to make it look like a different hat, depending on the angle it is perched.

THE NEW parapet hipline featured for spring by Adele Simpson is reflected in her navy wool contour bolero costume... as youthful as a face lifting. The shortly-sleeved jacket spotlights the intricate and ruffled sleeve treatment of the eyeleted cotton blouse. The buckled-belted waistline affords the hugged-look.

ONE THING WHICH will look definitely 1946 in the Easter Parade this year is the soft cape or square bolero top in place of the usual suit jacket. I like this look... it is strictly American, young, flattering and adaptable. I like such suits tailored in men's wear worsteds with "important" treatment at the waist and hips such as wide gold-buckled belts or draped skirts. Clothes are young, pretty and with a purpose. They are attuned to the times.

There has been a lot of loose talk about bosoms being completely bared for spring. I admit I have been responsible for a great deal of this fashion trend, but I want to reassure women here and now that I don't intend to carry it beyond sensible limits. I do feel that the bosom is one of the loveliest parts of the body and should logically be a designer's focal point in any beautifully draped dress.

Speaking of the womanly tradition, I believe we are going to hear the word "voluptuous" as a fashion term for the first time in 25 years or more. This is an era of vanity. Women have been long enough held down by the feeling they must work in every dress they own.

Adele Simpson

Baked Beans, Brown Bread Call for Second Helpings

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

REMEMBERING BAKED BEANS on those days during Lent when you want a good main dish for meatless menus. There are so many species of beans and so many ways of preparing them there need be no monotony in the menus featuring them. Try beans with cheese, corn, rice, celery, tomatoes, mushrooms, salmon, onions or other foods that your imagination might prompt for completely new dishes. You'd better make plenty, too, because there is bound to be call for seconds.

Wife Now Gets The Raw Deal

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Every day I read in the newspapers and magazines about the horrible treatment veterans are receiving from their wives, so my story is going to be a little different.

"I've been married for over five years. He was an officer, and I followed him from post to post, living under very trying conditions—I have lived even in a cellar and an attic—but I enjoyed doing it because I was with him.

"Two and a half years ago he went overseas, wrote to me about once every four months, and never a word of encouragement or encouragement in his letters. I was fortunate enough to secure a good position and saved money and bought bonds, thinking that some day we would buy a little home. His allotment to me was very small in comparison to what other wives were receiving from husbands holding the same rank.

"Truthfully, I never had one date (except with girl friends) during the 27 months he was gone. I never had any desire for one, as I knew my husband was going through so much over there.

"Well, last month he returned and remained at home for two weeks. I even had an apartment, which is more than most returning soldiers have. With his terminal leave pay he is now traveling around the country, as he isn't sure he cares for me as much as he did a few years ago. So you see, Miss Fairfax, some of the wives are now fighting their own private little war. I guess it's no longer "C'est la guerre," but "C'est la vie!"

A TROUBLED VET'S WIFE
I'm afraid you are right, and that there are many wives of returned servicemen who have their own private little "wars" on their hands these days, in the sense that they must fight a battle against circumstances that seem to be taking their husbands away from them.

But don't give up hope yet. Remember that war affects different temperaments in different ways, and that while some servicemen come back eager to settle down to an orderly routine again, others are restless and unsure of themselves, and find it impossible to organize themselves right away.

Brown bread is the ideal for baked beans—and don't forget cole slaw or chef's salad to supply the meal with something raw and chewy. Either a fruit cup, baked pear, or baked apple will make the best dessert for this meal.

OLD-FASHIONED BAKED BEANS

4 cups pea or navy beans (about 2 lbs.)
1 tsp. salt
1 cup molasses
2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. ginger or cinnamon (optional)
1/2 cup tomato catsup
1/2 lb. salt pork

Wash beans and soak overnight. Add cold water to cover, salt and onion. Bring to boil and simmer until tender. Remove onion. Drain and save liquid. Combine molasses, spices, catsup and 2 cups of bean water. Pour boiling water over salt pork and wipe off. Place half of pork in bottom of bean pot. Add beans. Place remaining pork on top of beans. Add molasses mixture and water to cover. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 deg. F.) 2 hours.

BAKED SUCCOTASH

2 cups dried lima beans
4 cups water
2 1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tbsp. minced onion
1 1/2 cups cooked or 1 12-oz. can whole kernel corn
4 strips bacon (optional)

Soak beans in water overnight. Add 1 tsp. of salt; bring to boiling point; simmer but do not boil, about 45 minutes. Drain; save water and measure; add water from corn to make 3/4 cup liquid. Mix liquid, molasses, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, onion and remaining 1 1/2 tsp. salt. Combine beans and corn. Pour into a 2-quart bean pot or casserole dish. Arrange strips of bacon over top. Cover and bake in moderately slow oven (325 deg. F.) 1 hour. Uncover and bake 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Appreciation to Kindly Relatives

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have a one-year-old boy and in a few months am going to have another baby. My aunt and uncle have most kindly offered to take care of my little boy for a month while I'm taking care of my new-born. I think this is so generous of them that I would like to have your advice as to how I can in some way repay them. I'm planning to buy all the supplies I can for my boy (cereals and other baby foods) for a month's time, but of course there are the expenses for the milk, eggs and other foods I cannot buy beforehand.

Should I give them the money when they take the little boy, or wait until they bring him home and then ask my aunt how much she spent on his food? And since I don't know if she will be willing to accept money, if she isn't, how can I show my appreciation and gratitude?

A. R.
My advice is that, about two or three weeks before the approximate date when you expect your baby's arrival, you have a forthright talk with your aunt, assuring her again that it is impossible for you to tell her how deeply touched you are by her and her husband's goodness or how comforted you will be knowing that your little boy will be so happy and safe with such dear people.

Magic Redwood Essence Keeps Breath Sweet, Clean

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

PARDON US FOR INTRUDING . . . but do you suffer from ash-tray breath? Since smoking has become practically a national feminine habit . . . the turkish towel tongue is as natural as the dirt on a creeping child's hands. And for the morning after that big "happy holiday" night before . . . save your breath! And we mean that literally.

Protect your throat and sweeten your breath . . . and keep the secret of tell-tale indulgence all to yourself . . . with just a drop of a clear, emerald-green liquid placed on your tongue. Like magic . . . all the unpleasantness of residue odors from foods, tobacco or liquor will virtually disappear.

Of course this is just one phase of the goodness which the essence of redwood can bring to your tongue and to sweeten your breath. Radio singers . . . who constantly fear the menace of throat huskiness on the air . . . always use it. So do public speakers and all others who make appearances before assembled throngs.

And as a throat protection per se . . . this liquid magic is cleansing, sweetening and deodorizing . . . and just a drop or two of it on your tongue will send into oblivion all objectionable breath aftermath. It is a mouth charmer that protects, good-grooming as well as personal habits. The mist charm of the redwood is produced from the young buds of the tree and distilled into a liquid with a fragrance distinctly its own . . . clean and refreshing and as mysterious as the redwood itself.

For the name of this liquid breath magic, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New East Boston Tunnel Urged

A new $15,000,000 tunnel under Boston harbor, between the Hub and East Boston, to relieve traffic congestion, was urged today by State and city officials before the joint legislative committee on highways and motor vehicles at a State House hearing.

Two bills were before the committee, one filed by the State Planning Board, the other by Rep. Edward W. Staves of Southbridge, chairman of the Postwar Highway Commission.

"I believe that unless another tunnel is built between Boston and East Boston, the Logan airport will be isolated in a short time," said Rep. Staves.

Miss Elisabeth M. Herlihy, chairman of the State Planning Board, said construction of the tunnel would be paid for by a State bond issue, extending over 45 years. The tunnel would accommodate 9,000,000 cars per year.

UNRRA Hears India Food Plea

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 21 (INS)—The Indian agent general to Washington, Dr. Gikja Shanker Bajpai, warned today that unless 4,000,000 tons of cereals are made available to India within the next few months between 5,000,000 and 15,000,000 people will die. He spoke before the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Council.

His 'Bargain' Diamond

By FRED HOEY

YOU THRICE BLESSED AMERICANS! If any you need a recipe for grateful appreciation of all things U. S. A. just spend, as I have, six weeks in postwar Europe where masses of people live like maggots in a diseased bonfire.

Then return to the tranquil securities of your country where insignificant matters, previously unworthy of attention, suddenly loom large and important. Where paper currency is not just something women use for hair curlers. Where you can walk into a glass-fronted grill and buy a 20-cent hamburger made from untainted meat. Where a package of cigars is not an object of public envy. Where your every least movement is not subject to police scrutiny. Where cold, hunger and scarcity have not sharpened human greed to the point where women claw each other over a scrap of kindling wood or the slops from a U. S. Army kitchen, or regard a 5-cent candy bar as a fair price for virtue.

The American from Buenos Aires

THE AMERICA WE TAKE so casually is a focal point of world envy and regarded with resentful envy as a land of inexhaustible riches and plenty. Every consulate in Europe is besieged with immigrant applications which sum high into the millions, people of all nations who wait interminably for exit permits which seldom come and when they do, find transportation impossible.

I sat in the outer chamber of the U. S. consulate at Rome not so long ago where teeming hordes from all parts of central Europe swarmed the hallways and outer approaches on the forlorn hope that they might wangle the precious papers. I must have been asked a hundred times by strangers if I had any American dollars to sell—at whatever price I asked in local currency, just a few dollars which would give prospective immigrants a small financial stake. But there is a rigid law against carrying any American or English money into Europe. The penalty is heavy yet by hook or otherwise some U. S. cash is smuggled in to buy heirloom jewels and art which in pre-war times was without price.

In Rome, in Paris, in Frankfurt and Nuremberg I never walked the streets after sunset that furtive characters did not sidle up and ask in low voiced broken English, "Anything to sell? I pay good!" It isn't healthy for Americans to stray off beaten tracks after dark.

Sometimes the antics of grifters, moochers and confidence characters which infest the streets are funny. I stood in Paris' rue de Rivoli a few weeks ago looking in an art shop window. In the reflection of the glass I noticed a figure hovering close to my shoulder and presently a voice said thickly, "You American, huh?" So I turned to face a small, dark faced man in unusually neat dress. "I am also American," said the little man, "I come from Buenos Aires."

He matched strides with me as I turned away and began a crisp jibber about nothing. I felt annoyed but unsuspicious until a shaggy, ill-kempt type pranced up from the rear and began cackling in a language I did not recognize, capping his harangue by holding out a gold coin sized like a shilling piece but embossed with Russian characters. "Allo!" chirped my little companion. "That ees rare Zarist piece. I yan numismatist." He jabbered something to the shaggy man and said, "Ah, he ask 10 dollars." Whereupon he fished out an American sawbuck and handed it over.

It was a curious transaction I decided, as we wandered on. Suddenly the Russian barged up again and opened the lid of a small blue box, holding it close to his chest. On a cotton bedding there were what appeared to be a dozen or more unset diamonds. "Allo" snorted my sawbuck friend, "Ee as diamonds. Maybe we buy a bargain."

The Fine Art Of Chizzelry

THEN AND THEN ONLY did the full surge of suspicion arise. This was obviously the old come-on game. "We choose a diamond" suggested my swarthy pal, "an' get it appraised in some good jewels store." The Russian was for a surprising understanding for one who professed no English plucked a big stone from the cluster and offered it. But the runty man shook his head. "Nah," he growled tapping his chest. "Me! I choose." He inspected the contents of the box carefully and selected a stone of about four carats. Then fishing in his vest he drew forth a sheet of tissue paper and carefully folded it up. It was a shoddy, stupid game but the afternoon otherwise was dull so I decided to play it.

We walked along the Place Vendome, once the greatest jewel center in Europe, where there are still a few flash-front jewelry stores. "Where we go?" whispered my weasel faced chum. I pointed to an imposing store on a corner and we went inside, leaving the shaggy character outside.

A sleekly dressed woman clerk came forward and I suspected, but could not be sure, that I saw a flicker of amused recognition cross her face. The dark character explained our mission and the sleek lady took the diamond and inspected it under a jeweler's eye glass. "Eet is good cut," she murmured, "125,000 francs is fair price."

"Ahhh," breathed my sawbuck buddy, "that ees $1250 dollaire. We each pay half, beh." Outside the Russian was dancing an eager jig. "Come," said the little man. "We go to my hotel and arrange the purchase. We offer him six hunert dollaire only." But, though fun, it had gone far enough. A strange hotel with two such formidable types was just where I was not going. So I pointed to a Paris gendarme who was directing traffic at an adjacent corner with his white baton, and said, "Scram or I'll call the law." And that is just what they did!

I wonder how many suckers they hook in that little game? See what I mean?

Sinatra to Build All-Sports Arena

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (AP)—In corporation papers for Hollywood Square Gardens, Inc., headed by singer Frank Sinatra, have been completed today and sent to the California secretary of state, Atty. Albert Pearson said.

The papers call for a capitalization of $1,000,000 and list as directors Sinatra, Pearson and Henry W. Sanicola, Sinatra's business manager. Pearson said the group plans to erect an all-sports arena seating 20,000.

Boston American, Mar. 21—31

The confidence gained in their 3-1 win in the initial test of the Class B section of the Stanley Cup series should stand the Bruins in good stead in their second game with Detroit at the Garden tonight.

lucky breaks the Bruins got in the opening clash, but the grand old veterans of hockey wars realizes his team was distinctly outplayed from whistle to whistle. The first game proved among other things that the Bruins were a game and courageous outfit. They were in there fighting from start to finish. If they survive this series, their gameness should stand them in good stead against the Flying Frenchmen of Montreal, should the latter prevail against the Blackhawks.

The Bruins and Wings provide a style of play that some like and others don't. It is close covering. Yet, there were moments in the opening game that proved the boys of both teams can open the throttle and rush pell-mell down the rink.

Good Pat Egan did this very stunt early in the game. Make no mistake, that first goal was a tonic. The Bruins began to lift themselves from there in. That rush of Pat's was very reminding of one of Eddie Shore's patented rushes in the old days.

One of the best laughs of this series was the visit of Referee

Frank "King" Clancy to the players' dressing rooms. He cautioned on everything illegal. As one of King Clancy's old admirers, when he was with the Maple Leafs and Ottawa, this gave us a laugh. He was one of the toughest going players in the NHL. But everybody liked the King, for he could take it as well as give it, and he let the game go the same way.

As the Bruins step into their battle with the Red Wings tonight, it becomes increasingly evident that those men under the direction of Art Ross and Dit Clapper are playing together better than ever. That Don Gallinger line can go places. The Kitchener line is the same old steady and reliable trio, prepared to score and ready to save the game when side is short-handed.

This being corned beef and cabbage night, look for Pat Egan to give us another solo flight for a goal.

Timing Counts Most in Golf

By BYRON NELSON

Ty Cobb, who was acclaimed by many experts as the greatest ballplayer of all time, invited a group of us golfers out to his home to have dinner one evening. It was one of the most enjoyable evenings I have spent in a long time and I found Ty to be an intense student of golf just as he was always an intense student of baseball.

During the course of the evening we discussed slumps since I happened to be in a bit of a one at the time and Ty asked, "What do you do when you're in a slump?"

I answered that I went out on the practice tee and worked with a number eight iron until I could get the feeling of the ball. After which I worked through the various other irons, 7, 6, 5, etc.

Cobb brought back one of his favorite bats and using a pillow for a plate went through all the motions while he told us what he used to do to get out of slumps. "I would start out by bunting. This helped my timing. Eventually, I was able to hit the ball harder until I began to get my timing back and was hitting the ball again."

Ty's theory applies to golf as well. When he was in a slump he didn't go out and try to hit home runs, and it is my opinion that golfers shouldn't go out on the practice tee and try to get out of a slump with a driver. Work along with your shorter game until you're playing it exactly as you want to play it and then gradually work through all the clubs until you have command of them again.

The same is true in every sport. It's timing that counts whether it is boxing, football, bowling or ice hockey. And the way to improve your game is to go slow until you have mastered it.

Braves Cut Strings on 6 Players

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 21—For the past four springs, due to the shortage of baseball manpower, the rattle of the tin cans, which the managers tied to players who have not lived up to expectations at training camps, haven't been audible except on rare occasions.

With the war over, manpower has returned almost to normalcy, so the tin cans are rattling again. General Manager Jack Quinn announced this morning, after a meeting of the front office with veteran Bill Jurgens, Chet Wiecek, Tommy Nelson, Johnny Gorman and Jack Early didn't fit into the Braves' picture, and that Bob Brady needed more experience.

Jurgens, who was acquired from the Giants during the off season, is a ten year man so was given his unconditional release.

Wiecek, who hit well at times, was too slow afoot to make a Southworth club. He was sold outright to Indianapolis.

Gorman and Early weren't signed to Braves' contracts. They came here last week, and have been working out with the squad. Gorman was impressive against Baltimore on Tuesday, but Early didn't complete an inning against the Orioles.

Nelson is responsible for his own downfall. The Braves paid Milwaukee $40,000 for Nelson and Dick Culter late in 1944. Nelson was on the injured list but insisted on coming East. Then he announced that he wasn't in condition to play. A year ago, he developed a sore arm in training, and since has come up with ailment after ailment while being practically a total loss to the club.

This season there hasn't been anything wrong with his arm, but he disregarded camp training rules.

Last Tuesday he asked Southworth to make a deal with a Pacific Coast League club for his services, as his son was ill in California.

There'll be more Braves on their way before the end of the week.

The Braves have only two more games to play here, the Red Sox on Monday and the Phillies next Wednesday. They'll break camp one week from today and head for Ft. Myers. Then, after playing Louisville, they will be quartered at Tampa for three days, during which they'll tangle with the Reds.

DeGlane Aims For Sexton's Title

World's heavyweight champion Frank Sexton, Ohio, will be risking his top rating tonight at the Arena where he'll face challenger Henri DeGlane, France, in the main bout of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly wrestling program.

(World's Heavyweight Championship)

Frank Sexton, Ohio, vs. Henri DeGlane, France.

Babe Sharkey, Texas, vs. Olaf Olsen, Milwaukee.

Manuel Cortez, East Boston, vs. Stan Karolyi, Hungary.

Gus MacLagane, Filipino, vs. Carroll Giant, California.

EXPERT ADVICE

Never heard you order that brand before... I'll try it, too

I learned about John Jameson when I was overseas. His tops over there

Say, that's really smooth

Real prewar quality, too... not a drop is sold till it's seven years old

Is much coming in now?

Naturally supplies of 7 year old whiskey are limited, but it pays to ask for John Jameson first

Expect Suffolk Downs Sale Next Month

By JACK CONWAY

THE CONTROLLING interest in the stock of Suffolk Downs, now held by Aldred Investment Trust, is expected to go to the highest bidder at public sale under the direction of Receivers Eddie Goode and Atty. Ed Proctor some time next month . . . Before Judge Sweeney ordered a public sale of the stock one group offered $1,500,000 for the stock held by the Aldred Investment Trust . . . Another syndicate had a bid in of $1,300,000 . . . It is believed that the final sale price will be in excess of $1,500,000 . . . This will place a value of over $3,000,000 on the East Boston racing plant.

Eddie Goode

A group of Boston sportsmen are reportedly prepared to bid $2,000,000 for the Suffolk Downs race track next month when the track will be put on the block.

The local syndicate would have William P. Kyne, general manager of Bay Meadows in California, moving East to take over the venture.

Owen Gallagher, former Navy lieutenant, was appointed to succeed Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., on the racing commission as this writer predicted in this column early last January . . . The racing commission is a bi-partisan board and as a result Gov. Tobin could not have reappointed Tuckerman even if he wished to do so as Harry Allen, like Tuckerman, is also a Republican . . . Under the new setup of the Commission, Chairman Louis Hoffman and Owen Gallagher are the Democratic members with Allen the sole Republican member.

Gallagher has had experience in public positions and also in the Pacific with the Navy . . . He is young and active and he is expected to throw all his boundless energy into his new job.

Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., of course, will retain all of his interest in racing . . . He has been one of the pioneers of the sport in this state . . . He was a rider in steeplechase and jumping events in his younger days, while he still owns race horses . . . Most of the $4000 a year salary Tuckerman received as a racing commissioner went for taxes as he has large income from his insurance company . . . Tuckerman, however, wished to do everything he could for racing, and gave his time freely as a racing commissioner.

Mell Rules Favorite

GUS MELL has been installed a favorite for his 10-round bout with Johnny Caserio which will feature a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tomorrow night . . . Mell showed good form in his last winning tussle with Caserio . . . If Mell wins, he will be prepared to take on Sal Bartolo, NBA featherweight champion, who defeated him in the Garden ring . . . Mell has improved his boxing since he lost to Bartolo, and he would like to even his score with the East Boston favorite.

DeGlane to Remain Here

IF HENRI DEGLANE, heavyweight wrestling champion of France, regains his world's mat title when he clashes with Frank Sexton in a finish bout at the Arena tonight, he will remain in this country he revealed to this writer.

"There have been reports that if I defeat Sexton I shall return to France at once," said DeGlane.

Like Bruins to Win

MYLES LANE, a former member of the Bruins, told me that he believes the Bruins will win their series from the Detroit Red Wings and that Les Canadiens will dispose of the Chicago Blackhawks.

Lane believes that the Bruins will have to play hard, rugged hockey to beat Les Canadiens. Myles pointed out that the Canadian club is the fastest in hockey, and the Bruins will have to slow it down a bit to win.

Budge, Riggs to Show at Garden

After an absence of four years, professional tennis returns to New England and Boston in particular next Wednesday night, when the No. 1 road company of pro tennis stops off at the Garden for a one night stand.

Two new players to the pro game will be making their showing here but to Don Budge of Oakland, Cal. and Bob Riggs of Chicago, it will be a repeat performance. Rounding out the foursome are Wayne Sabin and Johnnie Faunce.

Sox Risk Stars On Skin Diamond

By JOE CASHMAN

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 21—The Red Sox varsity came down here to play the Louisville formers today while the reserves visited Bradenton to take on the Yankees "B" team. It was at the request of Bruce Dudley, Louisville boss, that Teddy Williams and Co. were exposed to the danger of injury on the local skin diamond.

The Fenway stars, Dudley hoped, would attract a crowd. They didn't. There weren't 500 cash customers present.

This small gathering was treated to the sight of Dave "Boo" Ferriss on the Sox slab, Hal Wagner behind the plate and Williams, DiMaggio, Pesky, Doerr and York in the supporting cast.

The only Louisville names familiar to Boston fans were those of Pete Layden, former Texas all-America football star; Frank Shofner and Chuck Coney, whose plays around second base earned rave last summer, and Pete Lewis, a big outfielder who did some great hitting in spring training with the Hose just before the war.

Emory Ruld, a right-hander back with the Colonels for the first time since 1943, opened on the hill against the Croninmen.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Held threw out Culbertson. Pesky doubled. DiMaggio walked. Williams walked. Doerr walked, forcing in Pesky. Held threw out York. DiMaggio scoring. Koney threw out Wagner. TWO RUNS.

LOUISVILLE—Bennington doubled. Gerkin flied to Culbertson. Layden flied to Culbertson. Lewis struck out. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

RED SOX—Andres flied to Layden. Ferriss singled. Culbertson singled. Pesky popped to Shofner. DiMaggio flied to Layden. NO RUNS.

LOUISVILLE—Shofner lined to DiMaggio. Held walked. Koney forced Held. Pesky to Doerr. Novick flied to DiMaggio. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

RED SOX—Williams tripled. Doerr singled, scoring Williams. York walked. Wagner flied to Bennington. Andres forced Doerr at third. Held unassisted. Ferriss singled, scoring York. Culbertson flied to Layden. TWO RUNS.

LOUISVILLE—Byam batted for Rudd and flied to Williams. Bennington walked. Gerkin forced Bennington. Pesky to Doerr. Layden forced Gerkin. Andres to Doerr. NO RUNS.

N Y Group Wins Aldred Move OK

Motion of a New York group, which recently purchased the majority shares of the Aldred Investment Trust, to intervene in the Trust's affairs was allowed in full today by Judge George C. Sweeney in federal court.

Judge Sweeney's action, however, does not prevent the receivers of the Trust, Edward O. Proctor and Edward M. Goode, from continuing their efforts to dispose of the Trust's holdings in the Suffolk Downs race track.

Butcher Not Upset Over Bucs Release

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 21 (AP)—Max Butcher said today he wasn't surprised to hear he had been unconditionally released by the Pittsburgh Pirates after failing to come to salary terms.

"But I'm going to stay in baseball," asserted the big right-handed pitcher who won ten and lost eight games last year.

Butcher said the Pirates offered $8000, which was "considerably less than I asked."

Too Much Pressure For Kids to Shine

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 21—Spring is here, and the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, they wither in the fall. That was written by the long-haired boys, but the long-haired boys didn't know their baseball. Few baseball flowers have a chance to bloom in the spring, especially in these post-war days.

The thought came to mind as the Cards were whipping the Sox, 9-6, in their mid-week game. Harris and Wilson worked for the Sox, had a bad inning apiece but were kept in because they needed the work. The Cards, on the other hand, (with Sam Bredon looking on) started Max Lanier, followed with Sam Martin, finished with Murry Dickson.

Martin, who had blinded the Sox last week, didn't have his stuff after pitching about 15 scoreless innings, was belted by the Sox and lifted in the ninth after he passed Pesky, first hitter. The Cards play every game as if the flag depended upon it.

Why the pre-season pressure? Isn't this a period when clubs are supposed to get in trim for the championship season, or has baseball gone Hollywood for good? Ted Williams, for example, is being passed down here as often as he was in championship season of 1941 and 1942. He's been away since. He needs to get his eye sharpened.

"This is world series pitching," he said in disgust. "I haven't yet seen a fast ball I could reach. I worked Lanier to 3 and 1, took a curve for a strike, fouled off another, walked on a third curve. All I've seen in breaking stuff. The first pitch I saw off Wolff in Havana was a knuckler, the very first pitch mind you."

Williams is quoted because his job is set. But, if he doesn't hit up to standard down here, what can the management expect of kids like Flair, Andres and Pellagini who have been away four years? If any one of that trio fanned seven times out of eight like Rudy York he'd be shipped to Louisville on a comet. York's job is safe, however. He's hit in the past. Others have to prove they can do it, and they've got to prove it in March. There's "slow starter" business with rookies.

In 1941 rookie Hughes was blinding everybody with his stuff. He was shipped to Louisville while Ostermueller, Grove and Jack Wilson were kept, proceeded to win 11 in a row and was brought back in mid-season.

Can't baseball men recognize ability after being around for 20 years? It's all very mystifying. Recall Williams was shipped to Minneapolis in 1938. Didn't anybody realize he could hit?

"A rookie's got to be in mid-season form when he arrives in camp," Frank Shellenback used to say. Agreed, but suppose they got out of the service only a few weeks before they hit camp? This year is different. Patience should be exercised.

Sox Send Daly To Lahey Clinic

SARASOTA, Fla., March 21—

Tom Daly, one of the kindest men who ever lived, was on his way home to the Lahey Clinic today. He's been suffering from colitis, lost weight so fast the Sox got frightened about his health.

Tom was sent to the American Association in 1943 to pick up Jo-Jo Moore, came back instead with Leon Culberson. Culby plugged the gap for the duration. The Sox don't rate Culby high but never will be waived out of the big leagues. Other clubs like him.

Kurowski won't go to the Braves or any other club unless we get an outstanding third baseman or catcher for him," said Cards' manager Eddie Dyer, a most personable gentleman. . . . The Sox regulars play Louisville at Ft. Myers today with Ferriss and Wagner pitching, the Sox "Scorvies" play the Yankee B team at Bradenton with Woods and O'Neill pitching. . . .

"The third base job is in your pocket," one Sox veteran told Pellagini. "Get off the rubbing table and play ball." . . . Pelly won't be ready until the weekend by which time the Sox probably will have come up with a new third sacker. The wires have been hot here, and Cronin, Woodall and Collins were in deep conference this morning.

FINNEGAN.

Fishing License Demand Proves Boom Year Here

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

This is the first day of spring—a date hailed joyfully by anglers, who know that the opening of the trout season in Massachusetts is only 25 days in the offing, three weeks from next Monday.

Dropping in at the intown office of the Fisheries and Game Division, we learned that the demand for fishing licenses has increased more than one-third over that of the past few years. For those who haven't obtained licenses yet, here's a bit of information:

Sporting licenses—combination hunting and fishing permits—are still issued free of charge to all men in uniform. . . . The charge for licenses for minors between the ages of 15 and 18, and women, is $1.25. The regular price remains at $2.00. . . . There is no fee for resident citizens over 70 years of age.

"One of the first things returning veterans seem to do is to rush to the nearest office for a fishing license," a clerk told us.
